State Cornpicking Contest Won By Waterloo Farmer

... Kahlandt Tops In Mechanical Meet

By JOHN SWANSON
Star Staff Writer

WATERLOO, Neb.—Nebraska's first mechanical cornpicking championship title has gone to a husky Waterloo farmer who thinks he might be "a little too busy around home" to attend the national contest.

Winning first place in the mechanical cornpicking contest near here Tuesday was Delmar Kahlandt who picked 2,480 pounds of corn for a proficency score of 92.8.

Six other young Nebraska farmers took part in the competition on the John Walvoord farm, and all were judged on the cleanliness of the corn picked, time required and safety practices observed.

More than 1,000 persons from one Iowa and 24 Nebraska counties crowded the Walvoord farm to watch the seven mechanical pickers move carefully through the six 50-rod-long rows of tall corn assigned to each.

Kahlandt, who operated a two-row mounted picker, was awarded a cash prize of $50 by the sponsors of the contest, the University of Nebraska college of agriculture, the Elkhorn Grange and the Omaha Farm Equipment Club. He is also eligible to represent Nebraska at the national mechanical cornpicking contest in Indianapolis, Ind., Saturday.

Kahlandt told The Star, however, that he will probably "have too many things to do around home," to make the trip. First prize in the national contest carries an award of $5,000.

Cecil Means of Omaha, co-chairman of the event, said the mechanical contests vary from the old hand-picking contests in that speed is a minor factor to consider in choosing the winner.

The hand-picking contests, which were largely a husking race between hardy contestants, were discontinued about 12 years ago in Nebraska when the advent of the mechanical pickers reduced the numbers of skilled hand-pickers.

The afternoon was devoted to safety demonstrations and talks by members of the agriculture college's extension service.

Other contestants were: Earl Rohwer of Benson Station, Eugene Kruse of Florence Station, Lloyd Welch of Hubbell, Leonard Wilke of North Bend, Jim Meiers of Hooper and Marvin W. Johnson of Oakland.

Triangle Peak Won By Allies

7th Division Attacks Through Mist And Fog

SEOUL (Wednesday) (AP)—U.S. 7th Division troops, attacking through mist and fog, stormed to the top of Triangle Hill in Central Korea Wednesday.

To the west, South Koreans won complete control of White Horse Mountain after engineers blasted the last Chinese Red defenders to death.

Success in the center by the U.S. 31st Polar Bear Regiment of the 7th Division under Col. Lloyd Moses, Wood, S. D., came after waves of Chinese Red reinforcements had hurled the Americans back from Triangle Hill, north of Kumhwa, Tuesday night.

Moses' men, who had pulled back from Triangle Hill so artillery could rake the estimated 1,000 Chinese Reds, renewed the attack this morning under cover of a drizzle.

Men of the 31st scaled the 1,500-foot-high steep, sandy slopes, then moved about 150 yards down the other side, AP War Correspondent Milo Farneti reported.

Motives Of Ike Are Assailed

Eisenhower Accused Of Backing 'Slanderers, Character Assassins'

From Press Dispatches

SALT LAKE CITY — Adlai Stevenson Tuesday night attacked "character assassins and slanderers in Congress" and Gen. Eisenhower for plumping for their re-election.

The Democratic candidate for President called the campaign of his Republican opponent a "strange crusade and said it included Sen. Taft and "a few peddlers of hate and fear."

Stevenson stripped from his prepared text his roughest attacks on Eisenhower.

Aids said Stevenson cut big chunks from his address to fit the speech into 30 minutes of nationally telecast and broadcast time.

Crowd of 6,000

An estimated 6,000 persons heard him in person in the Mormon Tabernacle.

In that part that Stevenson cut from his speech, he accused Ike of peddling the "Kremlin Story" in calling the present economy a "war prosperity" and said "this must be somewhere near the low-water mark in vote-getting."

In one part of the deleted section Stevenson also charged that "far worse than (Ike's) surrender to Taft, far worse than his acceptance of all the bad senators of his party is what he said about American prosperity."

In a speech prepared for delivery at the Mormon Tabernacle, the Illinois governor ripped at Eisenhower more scathingly than at any time during the campaign.

Denounces "Surrender"

Stevenson denounced anew what he calls the general's surrender to GOP Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio who bid unsuccessfully for the nomination Eisenhower won.

And the governor added that "because of that surrender our role in the world history is challenged in the election."

On the first leg of a 6,000 mile campaign tour of five Western states and Texas, Stevenson flew Tuesday morning from his home base at Springfield, Ill., and made a mid-day speech at Casper, Wyo., on the way to Salt Lake City.

In Casper he said "Republican bosses have fought with blind fury" against all prosperity programs and have opposed "every measure to build America's alliances against the Communist conspiracy."

Slogans And Confetti

The GOP opposition under Eisenhower prefers "Slogans, emotion and confetti" to discussion of the issues, the governor added.

In his Salt Lake City address, Stevenson had much more to say about the prosperity issue.

"There was a day," Stevenson declared, "when my opponent for the office of the presidency of these United States symbolized this grand nation of vast horizons and dazzling success. But now, for the sake of power, what has he not permitted himself?

"Far worse than his surrender to Taft, far worse than his acceptance of all the bad senators of his party, is what he said about American prosperity. He dared to tell us that our forward surge since 1945 has been based on war and rearmament. And he implied that the whole growth of social justice during the past 20 years is also based on war."

Adlai Backed By Dean Ackerman Of Columbia

NEW YORK (AP)—Dean Carl W. Ackerman of the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism, announced Tuesday his support of Gov. Adlai Stevenson for President, and said officers of the university have been urged to "remain silent" on the campaign.

"Officers of the university, including myself have been urged to remain silent in order that the name of the university should not be brought into the campaign," he said.

Those who received the awards were Robert J. Vogt of Seward, Roy B. Glandt of Omaha and Bryan V. Holmes of Broken Bow.

The awards were made by the Sears Roebuck Foundation.

At the opening convention session at the Capital Hotel, reports were given by state officers and delegates. Dr. F. B. Decker, state superintendent, spoke at the luncheon on "Farming and Education." The afternoon session included an address on "Farmers Insurance Exchange" by C. B. Hutchings, assistant secretary, Los Angeles; reports of delegates and committee meetings.

In the morning session Dr. Filley told the members "to guard with fidelity" the freedom of citizens to meet in public discussion.

He also pointed out that "for many years the Nebraska State Grange has gone on record in favor of equalizing the tax burden by levying a tax on retail sales, and it is hoped that such a change will be made in the relatively near future."

Citing Goehner Grange's 1951 national award for community service, John D. Hervey, Deputy Master of Washington, D. C., told the group that "there is a continued need for rural leadership sparking community action."

"It is my opinion that such activities are the most important developments in rural life since the establishment of 4-H Clubs and the Future Farmers of America," asserted Hervey.

Eisenhower's Book Netted $476,250

Total Income, In Addition To Literary Earnings, $253,303 Before Taxes; Only Income At Present Is From Investments

NEW YORK (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower made public Tuesday income for the past 10 years totalling $888,303, of which $635,000 came from his book, "Crusade in Europe."

He said he paid $217,082 in taxes, leaving him a net income of $643,148. Without the book, Eisenhower's net was $166,898.

★ ★ ★

Income-Tax Comparison

NEW YORK (AP)—Here is a comparison taken from the 10-year financial accountings of the two presidential candidates, republican Dwight D. Eisenhower and Democratic Adlai E. Stevenson:

Gross Income:
Eisenhower $888,303.
Stevenson $500,052.
Taxes.
Eisenhower $217,082.
Stevenson $211,980.
Net Income:
Eisenhower $643,148.
Stevenson $288,066.

Eisenhower's greatest source of income was his $476,250 net on his book "Crusade in Europe." Exclusive of this, his net income for the 10 years was $166,898.

The Republican presidential candidate added in a statement:

"I am now, in every sense of the word a private citizen, and without income except from investments."

FOLLOWS ADLAI'S LEAD

Eisenhower's revelation followed a similar financial statement by his Democratic opponent, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson.

Stevenson last month listed his gross income for the last 10 years as $500,052 and his taxes as $211,980. His net income for the period was $288,066.

Eisenhower recognized "some curiosity about the publication my book" and therefore listed his income from that source separately.

The Republican presidential candidate listed the total income of himself and Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, his wife, in addition to the book, as $253,303.99 before taxes.

TOTAL TAXES $206,893

In the 10 years, the report of the Republican presidential candidate showed he paid a total of $206,893.16 in income taxes, including $158,750 in capital gains taxes on his book.

The general said that he took leave without salary when he left the presidency of Columbia University to go to Europe in early 1951 to organize NATO defense forces. He noted also that he resigned his Army commission on his return to this country to campaign for the GOP nomination earlier this year.

His financial statement, including some correspondence, was released at Eisenhower's New York headquarters by Arthur Vandenberg Jr., his executive assistant.

Eisenhower is campaigning in the south at present.

SMALL TAX ON BOOK

The general said he paid a federal capital gains of $158,750 on the book, "Crusade in Europe," leaving a balance of $476,250. He was taxed considerable less under capital gains as a non-professional writer than he would have been under income tax regulations.

He broke down his income and tax returns into two sections. One for the six years ended Dec. 31, 1947, and the other for the four years ended Dec. 31, 1951.

For the first six years, when Eisenhower commanded Allied forces in North Africa and Europe during World War II and later served as Army Chief of Staff, he gave these figures:

Salary $51,548.08; income from investments $7,728.59; other income $700; total income $59,976.67.

Federal income taxes, $9,715.84; income after allowable deductions and federal income taxes, $47,453.98.

He noted that during the whole of this six years period he was in military service.

Strong America Pledged

Soviet Must Not Dare Another Korea, Ike Tells Texas Audience

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower pledged Tuesday night to create such strength in this country that the Soviet Union will not dare another Korea.

Bringing his Presidential campaign in Texas to a peak, Eisenhower told an audience in The Alamo:

"It won't bring any comfort to any American house to fix Korea and have as bad or worse trouble break out in another place. We can come to a lasting solution for Korea only when the Kremlin is made to realize that there is a will and a strength in the free world that it no longer can challenge in any quarter of the globe.

"The pledge of this crusade is to revive that will and to create that strength."

Gov. Allan Shivers not only introduced Eisenhower, but became the first Texas governor in history to announce he is voting for a Republican candidate for president.

Between 15,000 and 20,000 people were gathered in the Alamo Plaza for the general's speech.

Fourth Texas City

San Antonio was the fourth Texas city visited by Eisenhower Tuesday as he toured the Lone Star State by air in one of the key maneuvers of his campaign. His top advisers have been told that in Texas he has the best chance to knock a link out of the solid chain of Southern Democratic states.

He drew big, and apparently enthusiastic, crowds all along the route.

His advisers appeared to be vastly encouraged with the results.

Until he came to San Antonio, Eisenhower had been pressing mainly upon two lines of argument:

Favors State Title

1. His unqualified support for state ownership of submerged land properties, which in Texas have a reported capital investment value of 6½ billion dollars.

2. A taunting declaration to the Texans that the Democratic party considers all Southern states "in the bag," and a challenge to them to break out of it.

But in the night speech in San Antonio, a major address of the day, Eisenhower discussed the problem of world peace.

"I returned from Europe because I was convinced that there was a still bigger job to be done for peace. That bigger job had to be done in America."

He laid down four "cornerstones" on which he said continuing peace must be built. They were:

1. A strong America, economically, militarily and spiritually.

2. A national leadership in Washington that commands the respect of the nation as a whole.

3. Free Allies with whom bonds of friendship have been cemented in time of peace.

4. The United Nations, which he said "can be—must be—made a workable road to world peace."

Dry Weather To Follow Snow, Light Showers

Two landmarks were noted in Nebraska weather Tuesday but neither of them amounted to much.

In many areas of the state the long dry spell was broken, but in most places the precipitation did little more than lay the dust that has accumulated in the past several weeks.

And in the western part of the state the first snow of the new winter season was reported, but the most was a light 3-inch covering at Sidney.

Sidney also led in the precipitation department with .53 of an inch. Other reports were .39 at Scottsbluff where an inch of snow was reported, .38 at Chadron, .06 at Burwell, .04 at North Platte, .02 at Imperial and .01 at Valentine. Alliance also reported an inch of snow.

Lincoln, too, had a sprinkle Tuesday morning, but it barely moistened the rain gauges. Omaha, Grand Island and Lexington also reported light rains Tuesday morning.

According to the weatherman, there will be no more appreciable precipitation in the next five days. The forecast said skies would be partly cloudy Wednesday and Thursday, a little bit warmer Wednesday, but colder Thursday.

Temperatures for the next five days are expected to average around 5 degrees below the season's normals through Sunday. Normal maximum is 67 degrees and minimums range from 35 in the west to 41 in the east.

Bond OK Assured

ALLIANCE, Neb. (AP)—With 1,890 votes cast in Tuesday's $752,000 school bond election, 1,249 had voted yes and 641 no, assuring approval of the bond isue. New O Street Viaduct Hopes Rest In Hands Of County

Mayor Victor E. Anderson has virtually placed Lincoln's hopes of an early beginning on a new O street viaduct in the hands of the county commissioners.

The mayor did so with the announcement that, under current plans to remove that section of street from the city limits, the city would be unable to pay damages, if any, to property owners involved. The new viaduct would commence at 9th, leaving businesses along O between 9th and 8th under the new structure.

The only possible damages arising from those conditions, according to City Attorney C. Russell Mattson, would be grade elevation damages. That could involve such things as access, air and light, etc.

It was also Mattson's opinion that the city could pay none of the damages if the street were removed from the city limits. Thus, Anderson said, the only other alternative is for the county to pay whatever damages might occur.

County officials present at the joint meeting did not commit themselves on the mayor's proposal.

"We don't want to discourage you," said Chauncey Barney, chairman of the county board of commissioners, "but you must remember that we operate on a strict budget. Neither the city nor the county has money sitting around to use where they please."

Barney agreed with Commissioners Russell Brehm and Chris Kuhner that the county wanted to cooperate with the city but that Anderson's proposal would need further study. All three commissioners were particularly interested in how much the damages might be.

Seeking an answer to the problem, the city viaduct committee will contact property owners between 8th and 9th relative to their positions in the matter and the damages they might claim, if any. Committee members are W. W. Putney, Att. Guy C. Chambers and Don Pegler Sr.

As explained by Anderson, the city wants the street involved removed from within the city limits to make the viaduct eligible for construction with secondary federal road funds. Those funds, according to Anderson, are the only ones currently available to the city.

The viaduct would now be eligible for construction with federal urban aid funds on a dollar for dollar matching basis. With secondary funds, Anderson said, the government will pay the entire construction cost and the urban funds will remain for use on other Lincoln arterials.

Capt. Willis Manchester of the Police Traffic Department explained at the meeting possible control of traffic under the new viaduct. The north service entrance, he said, could be one-way west while the south service entrance could be closed on the 9th street entrance and open only half way east from 8th.

Traffic using the south service entrance to businesses under the viaduct between 8th and 9th would have to cross over in the middle of the block to the north access entrance and turn west. Thus, it would be impossible for any cars to enter the viaduct by making a U turn when coming out of either the north or south service entrance to the area below the viaduct.

Challenge To End War Given Reds

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y (INS)—The seventh annual U.N. Assembly opened in New York Tuesday with a prayerful minute of silence followed promptly by a U. N. challenge to the Communists to end the Korean War or admit they never wanted a Panmunjom truce.

The 60-nation assembly, in session for the first time in its 68 million dollar ornate home on the permanent 18-acre East River site, moved swiftly toward a stormy session against a background of pounding guns in Korea, a stalemated truce and a hotly contested U. S. presidential election.

The opening U.N. shot—aimed at giving moral support to the Allied truce team on the principle of voluntary repatriation of war prisoners—was fired by Mexico's Padilla Nervo, outgoing president of the Assembly.

Disregarding customary procedure of starting the Assembly on a non-controversial tone, Nervo declared:

"The non-forcible repatriation, together with a formula that would do away with any suspicions about the possible use of war prisoners in activities prejudicial to their countries of origin, should lead to the conclusion of an armistice or should make clear that there never was the intention of concluding it."

The wave of applause among free world diplomats emphasized the clearcut challenge to Russia, Red China and North Korea to "put up or shut up" on the Panmunjom negotiations.

Erickson Proposes Land Purchase For Water Reservoirs

City Engineer D. L. Erickson has asked City Council approval for the purchase of 650 feet of land adjoining existing city property at 51st and Cornhusker Highway.

Erickson told the Council the land would sell for about $15 a foot. It will be used, he said, for the installation of additional reservoirs.

The city now has its new pumping station at that location. Erickson said that while he has not contacted the City Water Advisory Board in he matter, he was certain they would approve of the purchase.

Additional reservoirs, he said, are considered a must in the expansion of the city's water supply.

The City Council has approved plans and a $11,500 estimate for construction of two storm sewer projects in northeast Lincoln.

The two structures, at 68th and Fremont and 68th and Cotner, will drain an open channel between them into existing storm sewers in the area.

Also authorized was a $3,500 sanitary sewer in Gladstone from Richmond Road to 56th; 56th from Gladstone to Judson and Judson from 56th to 58th.

Jury Finds Ortiz Guilty Of Burglary

Lawrence Ortiz, 23, 1943 Vine, was found guilty of burglary by the Lancaster District Court jury Tuesday. The jurors were out approximately an hour. He had pleaded not guilty.

Ortiz was charged with stealing a pocket watch, valued at $73, from the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Jones, 1214 No. 25th, on May 20.

Sentencing was deferred pending possible appeal.

Neighbor Is Held In West Coast Killings

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Nevada officers Tuesday held a next door neighbor of Guard Young, Chester, Calif., grocer, who was beaten to death last Friday together with three children. They acted at the request of California authorities.

Washoe County Reno Sheriff George Lothrop identified the man as Louis Edmond Blair, about 45, the owner of Chester's only movie theater.

Blair, picked up at a roadbolck north of Reno as he drove away from Chester area, denied all knowledge of the mass robbery-slayings at Chester. He waived extradition to California even before any charges had been filed.

Asked by newsmen if he knew Young, who was found beaten to death with his daughters, Jean 7, July 6, and a neighbor boy, Michael Saile, 4, near Chester, Saturday, Blair replied:

"Sure I knew them—I knew the whole family."

Lawyers 'Deplore' Criticism Of Adlai For His Testimony

NEW YORK (INS)—Twenty-two prominent New York lawyers—including supporters of Gen. Eisenhower — declared Tuesday that they "deplore" any effort to criticize or reproach Gov. Stevenson for testifying in the Alger Hiss case.

The group, in a direct answer to Sen. Nixon's televised speech Monday night censuring the Democratic presidential nominee for his testimony in the Hiss trial, declared:

"In our view as lawyers, the governor acted properly in this matter and did what any good citizen should have done under the circumstances."

Nixon has charged that Stevenson's appearance as a character witness was significant in that it came "after the facts were known," and was never followed by an expression "of indignation over what Hiss had done."

The statement by the attorneys was initiated by R. Keith Kane, a personal friend of Stevenson. Other signers included Maj. Gen. William J. Donovan, head of the wartime OSS and former GOP gubernatorial candidate; Eustace Seligman, associate of John Foster Dulles who is the GOP foreign policy adviser; John W. Davis, Democratic presidential candidate in 1924; C. C. Burlingham, former president of the New York Bar Association, and Jacob M. Lashley, former president of the American Bar Association.

During World War II, he was a Commander in the Navy in the South Pacific.

Surviving are his wife, Julia; a daughter, Julia Jane; a son, Richard Charles; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. King of 2030 So. 23rd; and a brother, Lyle E. King of Wilmington, Del.

Two Soldiers Plead Guilty In Walla Killing

...Girl Says 'Not Guilty'

LA CROSSE, Wis. (INS)— Two Camp McCoy (Wis) soldiers pleaded guilty Tuesday and a 16-year-old girl pleaded not guilty in the fatal beating of a 42-year-old Nebraska corporal at La Crosse Aug. 13.

The three entered their pleas in circuit court in La Crosse after being bound over from an earlier hearing Tuesday in County Court.

The three — Dolores Vinson, of La Crosse; Pvt. Dale Miller, 24, of Albany, Wis., and Cpl. Everett Forslund, 24, of Iron, Mich. — previously confessed to police that they beat Cpl. Frank Walla, of Seward, Neb., to death with a bottle.

Two other soldiers involved in the assault did not enter pleas. They are Pvt. Wayne Kamp, 21, of Postville, Pa., and Pvt. Thomas E. Reilly, 19, of Detroit, who is being returned from Camp Leonard Wood, Mo.

Teen-Ager Held

Another teen-ager, Dolores Stone, 17, of La Crosse, also implicated in the attack, is being held at the nearby Taycheedah Women's Prison.

Capt. Forrest Clark of the La Crosse police said the beating occurred in downtown La Crosse while the girls and soldiers were out on a drinking spree.

When a third degree murder charge was read to Miss Vinson, she pleaded not guilty "by reason of insanity" and collapsed in the courtroom. Her father, Daniel, picked up the girl and carried her to the judge's chambers, where she was revived.

The new main library building has been proposed in the Commission's report for 14th and N, just south and across the street from the present building.

Omahan's Body Discovered In Wrecked Auto

OMAHA (AP)—The body of Jack N. Carroll, 27, of Omaha was found in his wrecked automobile in a ditch at the west edge of Omaha on Highway 36 Tuesday.

The accident apparently happened shortly after he left the home of Jack Gorman, a cousin with whom he had been working on a roofing job at Arlington, Neb. A passing motorist discovered the wrecked car.

Mrs. Carroll said her husband did not come home Monday night but she did not worry about him as he and Gorman frequently stayed overnight in the towns where they had been working.

Carroll was pinned beneath the steering wheel with his hands sticking through the windshield of his car. Sheriff's deputies said the car had traveled about 90 feet off the shoulder of the highway.

CALL FOR PHILIP MORRIS

Auditorium Materials Sought By City

The City Council has approved and the mayor signed an application with the Defense Production Authority for an allocation of critical materials needed to build Lincoln's proposed new auditorium.

The application, prepared by the Associated Auditorium Architects, calls for the allotment of 1,059 tons of steel, 27,000 pounds of copper and copper products and 2,000 pounds of aluminum. A starting date on the auditorium is listed at April 1, 1953 with completion scheduled for April 1, 1955.

The Architects estimated the cost of the auditorium at $1,991,000, exclusive of site costs. That figure was broken down into $1,246,000 for the general contract, $360,000 for heating, plumbing and ventilation, $161,500 for electric wiring, $11,000 for finished hardware, $95,000 in architects and engineering costs and $117,500 in furniture and equipment.

In asking for approval of the application, the Architects pointed out that Lincoln contains seven major defense plants, including Goodyear, Cushman, Elgin, Gooch's and Burlington Shops and a number of smaller plants.

The auditorium was also portrayed as the hub of activities for service personnel soon to be stationed at the reactivated Lincoln Air Force Base. The application stated that there now was no place for such things as a USO headquarters and other recreational facilities for the service personnel.

It was argued further that Lincoln's auditorium plans have twice been delayed due to the defense effort and that the people have twice given a mandate for construction of the building by their approval of two bond issues.

"The denial of this request," it was stated, "will curtail all civic activities of this growing community."

The auditorium as now planned will be a one story structure with a full basement. The exterior will be of Indiana limestone.

Facilities will be provided in the basement for large meetings, conventions and some sports activities. The sports arena plans to the rear of the main front theater have been abandoned.

If the construction estimates hold true, the city will have about a $500,000 cushion on which to fall back on in building the auditorium. There is $2,500,000 in the auditorium building fund.

Furrier's Gift Coat To Mrs. Nixon Returned

PORTLAND, Ore. (INS)— A Portland furrier's gift of a coat to Mrs. Richard M. Nixon, wife of the vice presidential nominee, is coming right back to him.

Glen P. Lipscomb, one of Nixon's campaign leaders, wrote the furrier, Ed Hamilton, expressing thanks but declaring:

"The policy which Sen. Nixon always follows prevents acceptance of all personal gifts of this nature."

Hamilton sent the coat after Nixon, in explaining his "expense fund" and its uses, said his wife has no fur coats, "only a respectable Republican cloth coat."

Zoning Action Aids Lincoln TV Expansion

The City Council has approved an ordinance placing radio and TV broadcasting and receiving studios and offices in local business zoning classifications.

The Council acted to facilitate the erection of TV stations by the Cornhusker Radio and Television Corp., KOLN, and the Cornbelt Broadcasting Corp., KFOR. KOLN, which already has FCC approval of its TV application, will expand its facilities at 940 No. 40th.

Don W. Stewart, representing KOLN, told the Council that present plans are to start on the new TV station as soon as possible. There is a completion deadline in the FCC approval, he said, and a big demand in Lincoln for the station.

KFOR has not yet received FCC approval for a TV station. They plan to build on the southwest corner of 48th and Vine when they receive FCC approval.

Both the properties involved are now zoned for local business.

Change Approved

In other zoning matters, the Council approved a change from apartment A to local business of property at 528-40 So. 10th.

The rules were suspended and an ordinance passed on three readings to give local business zoning along 48th between Vine and W. Another ordinance, local business of four lots at the intersection of Belmont and Cornhusker Highway, was introduced on first reading.

Other ordinances introduced:

Vacation of the alley from 1st to 2nd between N and M. Rules suspended and given two readings.

Vacation of the alley running south one-half block from Pear between 27th and 29th.

Vacation of the alley from X to Y between 17th and 18th.

Graveling of 11th, Cornhusker Highway to Adams.

Paving of 54th, Walker to Huntington.

Paving of Sherman, 44th to 46th.

Water in Butler, 11th to 12th.

The only other ordinance approved on third reading provided for the opening of Smith street between 35th and the west line of Peterson's Southeast Summit, first addition.

A resolution was approved by the Council granting the city's Legal Department authority to proceed with condemnation proceedings to acquire the right-of-way necessary for the opening of J street at 55th.

"AT THE CROSSROADS OF LINCOLN"

Court And Congress

At New Orleans Monday night Gen. Dwight Eisenhower reiterated his determination to return the fabled riches of Tidelands oil—the oil which lies offshore from the coast of California, Texas and Louisiana—to the three states. Involved in this decision is congressional action overruling a finding by the United States Supreme Court, the first handed down in 1947, five years ago. Involved is a long-drawn-out struggle by the big oil companies of this country to get their hands on this last huge reserve of oil in this—an age of oil in the world—vital to national security, second only to bread to the American people possibly in the uncertainties of their times.

★

There was an arrogance in what Gen. Eisenhower said at New Orleans, resulting from the fact that the Tidelands controversy does not lend itself to easy explanation or common understanding by the public. The reason that the big oil companies want the offshore oil returned to the three states is that they want to be free to develop it as they see fit under lax, ineffective state regulation. This issue registers heavier with Nebraskans, perhaps, because a former attorney general of this state, Walter Johnson, midway in his third term vacated his office at the statehouse in Lincoln to spend much of his time in Washington, lobbying night and day for the passage of what is known as the Tidelands oil bill to which Gen. Eisenhower gave his blessing. Mr. Johnson is still at it—at a fancy salary more than double reputedly than what he received as attorney general of this state, and a most generous expense account.

★

He was one of the busiest of the busy in Chicago at the Republican convention which nominated Gen. Eisenhower. He was before the platform committee with the plank which ultimately appeared in the party platform. As the spokesman of an organization known as the Association of Attorneys General, Mr. Johnson was asked by Pat Hurley, now running as a Republican candidate for the Senate in New Mexico, why no attempt had been made to override President Truman's veto of the bill passed by Congress. It was an embarrassing question. When we asked Mr. Johnson what he said in reply to Mr. Hurley's question he could not recall his exact language. From other sources we were told that Johnson indicated that he and his associates felt that there were so many congressional absentees in those closing hours of the last Congress that they would not have the votes to override the veto.

★

It will be different if Gen. Eisenhower has his way. A Congress will pass that Tidelands bill and as President, Gen. Eisenhower gladly will sign it under the old dodge of states' rights. When it comes to the defense of the oil off American shores, of course, responsibility does not rest upon Louisiana, Texas and California. It is the burden of the American people. Gen. Eisenhower wants it both ways. He would commit this nation to defend every step in the development of that last great oil reserve and in his appeal for the votes of Louisiana, Texas and California, he would turn back the riches represented by the oil to the three states. There is the added curious reflection that here we find a President and a Congress arrayed against the deliberate judgment of the highest court in the land.

★

This issue is confused even more by a disposition on the part of the American press to create the impression that in its finding the United States Supreme Court was sharply divided. Even so careful a writer as Richard L. Strout, of the Christian Science Monitor, traveling with Gen. Eisenhower wrote that the Republican candidate expressed irrevocable opposition "to leaving the fabulously rich off shore oil reserves in the hands of the people of all the forty-eight states as approved by a narrow majority of the Supreme Court and declared instead that they should be given to the people of the immediately adjacent states."

Only in the Texas case was there a sharp division in the United States Supreme Court in the Tidelands matter. In order to ascertain this beyond question we wired the Washington Bureau of the Associated Press for information bearing upon the three Tidelands decisions. This is the answer which was received last Saturday:

"The Supreme Court three Tidelands decisions: June 23, 1947, upheld six to two government claim to Tidelands off California coast, Reed and Frankfurter dissenting, Jackson taking no part. June 5, 1950, two cases government gave top rights Tidelands off Texas and Louisiana coasts, with 4-3 decision Texas case, Reed writing dissent in which Minton joined, Frankfurter a separate dissent; seven to zero Louisiana decision. Jackson and Clark took no part either in Texas or Louisiana cases.

In other words it was a unanimous court decision in the case of Louisiana where Mr. Eisenhower was speaking at New Orleans last night—a six to two ruling in the case of California and a four to three finding in the case of Texas in which Texas relied upon an early treaty for its claim to Tidelands oil.

★

These idyllic October hours are field days for the oil interests and utilities of this country. It is a long flight from Nebraska to the shallow waters of the Gulf but long as it is Nebraska's money-starved schools have a deep interest in the struggle. What that interest is we purpose to set out in a subsequent article.

University Dormitories

One of the most significant steps in connection with the University of Nebraska came Monday in an announcement that the University was embarking upon a two million dollar dormitory building program.

It is needed, needed badly.

It will not cost the taxpayers of this state a penny to construct the three dormitories which will provide facilities for more than six hundred male undergraduates of the University. Through a loan from a Federal agency, amortized to cover a 40-year period at low interest rates, the dormitories will pay themselves out. The only other outlay involved covers the furnishings, estimated at $100,000, an item not eligible for Federal funds but which can be repaid along with the money required for construction of the dormitory.

The three will complete an impressive circle of dormitory facilities on the campus, contributing substantially to the impressiveness of that campus, and at the same time filling a long felt need. Among the better known universities of this country dormitory facilities have ranked at the top of the list as a "must." Nebraska has lagged. The only reason that the University of Nebraska has neglected this phase of development has been the lack of money. The announcement is another step in developing the long range University program in the building of an educational institution worthy of a mature state.

Earl G. Maxwell To Retire

Early in 1953, Earl G. Maxwell, Extension Forester of the University of Nebraska, will retire after years of devoted service, particularly in some areas of the state, notably in Nebraska's Sand Hills, long neglected in the business of tree planting.

A swell guy, Mr. Maxwell, asking no more of life than the opportunity to go about quietly preaching the gospel of trees. There is no yardstick to measure adequately his contributions to Nebraska in the last two decades. Let it be said that in his love for trees and in his belief that they constitute a resource of great value, every ounce of his energy went to pursuading hundreds of Nebraskans to plant for the future. He stepped into the job from which he retires when Nebraska faced the most adverse conditions, a drought which hung grimly for eight years, costing this state thousands of its mature virgin trees.

Those who knew Mr. Maxwell came to the conclusion that if anything those years, when it was a chore to make anything grow, stirred him to greater action. His homespun qualities, his sincerity and his enthusisam in the field combined to give him the complete confidence of thousands of tree lovers.

Mr. Maxwell is retiring in an active sense but his friends will take that announcement with a grain of salt. His boundless enthusiasm for trees will continue long after he relinquishes his post as Extension Forester. He will be succeeded by Carl Loerch, a fine upstanding young man equipped with a splendid understanding of the task.

Charlie's Adopted Aunt

The case of Charlie Chaplin, the funny little comedian who is not very funny off the screen, is not one that can be decided easily. Unfortunately, a lot of emotionalism has been injected into the problem of whether to allow Chaplin to re-enter this country when he returns from a trip to Europe. The legal aspects of the case should be paramount in any consideration of the Chaplin affair, and the comments of interested parties should not be allowed to cloud the rights which Chaplin may or may not enjoy as a resident—but not a citizen—of this country.

Of all the words that have been written about Charlie, the undisputed championship for irony should go to the official organ of the American Communist party, the Daily Worker. The writers for that publication, after a quick check of the European party line, proclaim that Chaplin is the victim of discrimination because—of all things—he is a millionaire. The American press, according to the Worker, "ganged up" on Chaplin because he was the "first movie actor with a million dollars in the bank." And then the Communist paper concludes: "To those who reach for their poison pens whenever they hear the word culture, this was going too far."

Well, lots of funny things have been happening lately, but nothing quite equals the concern of the Daily Worker for a member of the wealthy, elite, capitalist class. The world is getting topsy-turvier every day.

Americanizing The Met

The trend toward "Americanization" of the Metropolitan Opera under the direction of Rudolf Bing is continuing this year, if the program for the new season is any indication.

Three more American-born singers have been added to the roster of the company. And this year three additional operas will be sung in English, along with the two that made so great an impression last year.

Manager Bing is pursuing his course of emphasizing America and Americans in the Met, a course that thus far has produced some gratifying results.

John L. Lewis Miffs Wage Board Chairman

WASHINGTON—Wage Stabilization Chairman Archibald Cox was plenty miffed when John L. Lewis announced that his miners would strike unless the Wage Board approved by today his 24-cents-an-hour wage-boost agreement with the coal operators. But what burned Cox even more was Lewis' refusal to attend a Wage Board meeting to discuss the proposed pay boost.

Big John's disdain for constituted government authority is well known. But his tent-sulking on this occasion set a new record.

Immediately after Lewis' agreement with the operators, Harry Moses and Joseph Moody, spokesmen for the mine owners, suggested that both sides get a stipulation from the Wage Stabilization Board that the wage boost would not go into effect until the WSB approved it. This is provided by law.

"Certainly not," replied the beetle-browed miner boss, adding something to the effect that the contract should go into effect immediately without any meddling by government bureaucrats.

"But it's illegal to enter into a conclusive contract without the approval of the Wage Board," declared Moody.

Lewis shrugged his shoulders. When later he was invited to the Wage Board discussion, he shrugged them again.

Finally Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman persuaded John L. to send his legal counsel, Welly Hopkins, to the meeting. But Hopkins blandly refused to discuss the wage agreement; also ducked questions as to whether Lewis would carry out his strike ultimatum.

"I am not an officer of the United Mine Workers and therefore not in a position to speak with authority," declared Hopkins loftily.

Well, I don't like it when somebody puts a gun to my head and tells me to rush a decision on a matter vital to our economy, or face a strike," shot back Cox. "I also do not like having a wage agreement like this shoved at me, when both labor and industry know that it is a violation of the defense act to make such a conclusive agreement without our approval."

Cox said that 13 cents of the proposed 24-cents-an-hour pay boost was "allowable" under Wage Board regulations, but added he would have to be shown some "real evidence" before he would approve the remaining 11 cents.

Rent Increases May Hurt GOP

It looks as if the Republicans have paved the way for removing rent controls at exactly the wrong time. Thousands of persons got notices of increased rents last week in Des Moines, Kansas City, Toledo, Atlanta, Akron, Nashville, Seattle, New Orleans, and Reading, Pa.

Meanwhile the University of Michigan has completed a survey showing that rent control was a paramount issue in deciding the 1948 election—a fact that has strategists in both parties wondering if it may happen again.

Unfortunately for the Republicans, the issue was clearly drawn in hundreds of cities, with the GOP against and the Democrats for extending controls on a local basis.

Almost without exception, rents shot up immediately after controls were abolished by city councils. In Detroit, for instance, the Detroit News reported that rent increases ranging up to 140 per cent followed a 5-to-4 vote by the city council to end controls.

As a result, rent control—as in 1948—has become the No. 1 election issue with thousands of voters in Detroit and other cities.

Referring to the 1948 election, the University of Michigan report states:

"More significant than any party differences in attitude toward rent control is the fact that almost three-quarters of the people favored it, and only one person in eight was actually opposed to it. On this issue, therefore, many voters crossed party lines.

POLITICAL-GO-ROUND

Correction—This column was in error in indicating that Norman Chandler, publisher of the Los Angeles Times, was a contributor to either of the two Nixon funds. He contributed to Nixon only indirectly through the United Republican Fund. Chandler holds about 2 per cent interest in a trust which owns stock in the Title, Insurance and Trust Company, which in turn underwrites many California oil companies. He does not control . . . The Democrats are worried over reports that women voters are dazzled by Gen. Eisenhower's military glory. So Gov. Stevenson may pitch one of his big campaign speeches to the women . . . Sen. The TV experts who coached Sen. Nixon for his famous speech were NBC Producer Ted Rogers and director John Clear, two of the best in the business. They rehearsed him for almost a solid day, with no one admitted except the technicians . . . Col. Robert McCormick's new American Party"—laid an egg in Washington. Organizer Robert Varner held two rallies to launch the new party in Washington. Fifty persons attended the first "rally," only 20 came to the second. MARQUIS CHILDS

Watch Out For Fake Election Eve 'Incident'

WASHINGTON—Ever since the rise of the Communist International, with its determination to impose Communism everywhere, the politics of most western nations has been disrupted by charges and countercharges related to this threat. It is like a sinister red thread leading to corruption, vilification, forgery, fraud and always fear and suspicion often bordering on hysteria.

The harm done to the process of free, representative government is incalculable. The tactic of disruption and fear may well be a part of the plan of the Kremlin to destroy the institutions of freedom and the whole base of free choice on which western civilization rests.

As the current campaign moves to what promises to be a savage conclusion, this long background should be borne in mind. In one famous instance a national election in Great Britain turned on the last-minute use of a Communist letter that many experts believed to be a crude forgery. In any event, its authenticity was never determined. That bit of history is a kind of warning light for Americans in the present murky atmosphere of doubt and uncertainty.

☆ ☆ ☆

In October of 1924, Ramsay MacDonald, Britain's first Labor prime minister, was in the midst of a hot election campaign. His Labor government had gone to the country for a vote of confidence. One of the issues was a proposed treaty with Soviet Russia, providing a trade exchange with an outlet in Russia for the products of British factories. Large-scale unemployment was already plaguing Britain.

MacDonald's unalterable opposition to Russian Communism had been repeatedly expressed. Just before the campaign began he had said at a Labor party conference:

"Never was it more necessary for our labor movement to raise as its own flag the banner of democracy, of freedom, of progress by reason and of condemnation of tyranny by power. The war has threatened to make the world safe for dictatorships, for conspiracy, for mischief, for force coercing both the bodies and the minds of men. Unless we are prepared to engage upon a crusade against that, we had better put up our shutters and declare that we are wearied in well-doing. Communism, as we know it, has nothing practical in common with us. It is a product of Czarism and war mentality, and as such we have nothing in common with it."

The fact was—it is still true—that the hatred of the Communists was much greater for the Laborites than for the Conservatives. In Communist theory the Conservatives were bound to resist all social change by evolution, thereby making a violent revolution inevitable.

But, despite this fact, charges of pro-Communist were widely circulated against the Labor party. Then four days before the election Conservative newspapers carried big headlines over what purported to be a letter from Zinovieff, president of the presidium of the Communist International and right hand to Lenin, father of the revolution. It instructed British Communists to step up the creation of cells for subversion in the Army, Navy and industry. They were to work with renewed vigor in preparation for a "bourgeois war" which could then from within be turned into a class war.

The letter had apparently come from the British Secret Service through a leak in the Foreign Office. Some with expert knowledge denounced it as a crude forgery, charging that the Secret Service has dozens of such scare letters in its possession, all of them fakes. A little later Maxim Litvinov, then Russian commissar of foreign affairs, agreed to submit the document to an impartial international tribunal for determination as to whether it was authentic or fake. Such a step was never taken.

MacDonald handled the incident in a hesitant fashion. He apparently did not realize the effect it would have on the electorate in a fairly close election in the wake of a World War that had caused a profound upheaval everywhere.

But whether the whole incident was deliberately cooked up or whether it was an authentic letter of instruction, it would be hard to find a better illustration of the evil influence of Communism in the free election of a democracy. To allow that to happen is to play directly into the hands of the plotters who want to undermine and discredit all free institutions.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

Duke Is A Retriever With A Taste For Bread

By JEFF WITHROW
Star Staff Writer

A dog named Duke, once destined to become the founding father of a commercial enterprise—a Labrador Retriever kennel—is now content as a 60-cents-a-day baby sitter.

The 110-pound retriever is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Leon C. Donley, 1737 B.

Jean Marie Donley, 18 months old and a little more than knee high to Duke, is the object of the dog's baby sitting interests.

The two get along like pals, Donley said.

"If the baby gets two of anything, such as cookies, she hands over one of them to Duke."

And this politeness prevails during play, according to Donley. There's no argument over toys. When a rubber ball is the center of interest, the baby plays first while the dog watches. Then Jean hands Duke the ball and sits back to watch. The baby has only to reach for the ball and Duke gives it up.

☆ ☆ ☆

Duke has hunting qualities added to his high aptitude as an entertainer. Duke went duck hunting at the age of 10 months, according to his master, and displayed fine form in bringing in one of the decoys.

Donley explained Duke's 60-cent-a-day pay as three pounds of meat, a pint of milk and scraps from the table.

Duke hasn't held to his diet, however. Once when the dog's appetite got the best of him, he swiped a ham from the neighbors and carried it to friendly ground to consume.

Not being a glutton, Duke ate only half the ham and without even removing it from the box he had carried it in from the scene of the crime.

☆ ☆ ☆

The black retriever acquired a taste for bread at one time, according to Donley, and consequently made friends with the workers at a nearby bakery. The bakers, said Donley, would give Duke loaves of bread as fast as the dog could take them home and bury them.

"He had a good supply of bread buried in the front yard before we could find where he was getting it," Donley said.

"I was going to start a kennel at one time," Donley said, "And I may do it yet." The establishment would be located at the Donley's Rollingview Farm. The Labrador's name is Duke of Rollingview.

Band Day

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Once again Band Day has come and gone. I saw a small item about it, together with a few pictures of various band members. But I looked for quite a while in the Sunday paper before I found the four line mention of it in the middle of the two page spread about football. It seems a shame that such a colorful parade and pageant couldn't have had more publicity. And so far as I know there was very little advance publicity given to it.

I know that at this season of the year football crowds everything else off the pages of most of the nation's papers. Lincoln is not alone in that fault. But if the press is so afraid that football is not allotted its proper place why don't we have Band Day on an off Saturday as Grand Island has their Harvest of Harmony?

Many of the youngsters here Saturday had never participated before. They and their directors and Don Lentz certainly deserve more publicity than they got. It takes hours, weeks and months of practice, drilling and a vast amount of patience to put on such a show, and my hat is off to every one who took part.

But this is only one of the many times the press has been lax in giving sufficient advance publicity to major events here. Take, for example, last spring the University Choral Union along with the University symphony produced the Dream of Gerantine, a beautiful and difficult, but little known cantata by Sir Edward Elgar. This has only been given in the United States about a dozen times and never before in the midwest. The chorus and symphony worked very hard and put on a wonderful performance to a very small audience. The reason—there was no advance publicity.

It would seem to me that it is time the press and the people recognized the fact that we have something in the state besides football. Fair play.

Prodigal Son

Upland, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Since we have wiped away our tears and Ike, after crawling through a loophole, regained his feet in time to receive the prodigal son and they have decided to close the case, we while dry eyed, should examine the record.

Who forced Truman to junk controls so prices could level off? Why was Truman not allowed to freeze prices and wages as he wished after World War II and thus would have saved us many billions and benefitted all? Why was the law not passed that Truman asked for a year ago, requiring financial statements of government officials?

Mr. Republican refused to back Ike in Europe. He wanted to wait and see what Russia was going to do. He was asking everybody but could get no answers. And while in Nebraska this year said he did not believe in aid to agriculture, that it might be necessary in extreme cases but not more than 60 per cent parity. And get this, Ike is guaranteeing you 100 per cent at the market place.

He said while in Nebraska he did not believe in government aid but would let representatives of the various agricultural groups get together and work out a plan for creating a demand and regulating marketing. A very fair sample of Ike's knowledge of what can or cannot be done with no authority or anything to do it with. Ike believes the government could take lessons from self-sufficient Nebraska, the state with ever-increasing taxes and shoddy roads, that has to ask for government aid every time we get a heavy snow or flash flood, a very weather beaten White Spot, that has become an annual liability to the government and has paid for flood control with losses and still doesn't have it. And who is trying to clear up what?

The rankest mess in Washington is the GOP and the coaliton to block every progressive move and then ask us to elect them to continue the program. The Democrats produced against their perpetual oppositions and most important the Prodigal Son, who could buy a $40,000 home and another home and farm and mail out 24,000 franked political letters and used all the $6,000 clerical fund allowed, and was so scrimped on his meager allowance that at times they couldn't even buy a postage stamp. Boo hoo, sad indeed, unless you read his voting record.

Leftism The Big Issue

Riverton, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The big issue in this campaign, because it is the "big threat" to the world and America, is leftism—so implies 98 per cent of the American press, which is rightist and GOP. The Marshall Plan, all our meddling over the wide world, the Korean War, are aimed to stop leftism.

America, spearhead of anti-leftism in Europe and Asia, is definitely expected to go anti-left in her election. Leftism, above all the other warm issues, is arousing the opposition of more Americans—capital, farmers, labor, Negroes, North, South, East, West. It will apparently be the deciding topic, and it will help the GOP mostly. The Republican party has been exploiting the rally cry, and even the Democrat press has advertised the danger to leftism, which is playing into the hands of the GOP.

The main drag of the tide is toward a reaction from the left. That is the happiest development that has come to the aid of GOP since its fall under Hoover.

Some day this rightist reaction which has been aided and abetted for the designs of capitalism will be seen in its true light, but not yet. This is an anti-leftist year.

GOP Has 4 Conflicting Farm Programs—Ritchie

Long Tags Butler As Isolationist

By The Associated Press

Democrat William Ritchie, who seeks the short term in the U.S. Senate, Tuesday summed up what he called the "conflicting variety of Republican farm programs," in this way:

"The platform says one thing, the candidates say another thing, the record says a frightening thing, and General Eisenhower says still a fourth thing."

These Republican farm "programs" he said in an address at the state's first mechanical corn picking contest held near Elkhorn Tuesday "provide only for farm confusion, not farm relief."

He said the GOP national platform "advocates a market cut in farm protection which would prostrate the farmers and ranches of Nebraska within a year."

The other Democratic Senatorial candidate Stanley Long of Grand Island, who seeks the seat of Republican incumbent, Hugh A Butler, attacked Butler as an "isolationist" in an address at Lexington Tuesday.

Long said Butler has been "loudly criticizing our actions in Korea, but I have not yet heard him make one constructive statement on how to resolve the problem there. Butler would have us believe that by electing him and a Republican president, we would have an immediate answer to the entire problem."

Long planned to visit North Platte Wednesday, Scottsbluff Thursday, Alliance Friday and Halsey Saturday

As the Nebraska candidates continued their accelerated pace, State Chairman William H. Meier announced at Minden that he has named Lyman Stuckey of Lexington as chairman of the Veterans-for-Stevenson committee in Nebraska. Stuckey is a former Department Commander of the American Legion.

James F. Green of Omaha, also a prominent Legionnaire was named vice-chairman.

Meier said Veterans-for-Stevenson committees will be appointed in each congressional district and for each of the larger counties of the state.

DEMOCRATS

Democrats Seek Funds

WASHINGTON (INS)—A GOP senator Tuesday urged President Truman to stay home instead of launching a new campaign tour and reminded the chief executive of dire problems which developed during his recent whistle-stop trip.

The blast from Sen. Welker (R-Ida) came as Mr. Truman met at the White House with Democratic finance leaders to seek new methods of raising campaign funds, and prepared to leave Wednesday on a three-day political journey into New England.

Welker declared in a telegram to the President that during Mr. Truman's recent absence from the White House, the Korean war situation grew worse, Russia ousted U. S. Ambassador Kennan, France quarreled with the U. S. and the Iranian oil stew boiled.

Meanwhile, the chief executive opened a "pep" session on the problem of raising funds for the home stretch drive in behalf of Democratic candiates Stevenson and Sparkman.

One Democratic informant said the White House session was one of several which had been held with the President to stimulate fund-raising among state Democratic leaders.

Democratic Chairman Steven A. Mitchell, Democratic Treasurer Dwight R. G. Palmer and Democratic Finance Chairman Beardsley Ruml all were slated to attend the White House meeting.

The conference followed Ruml's announcement that his $5 certificate sales campaign, originally a one-week drive, has been extended two weeks through Oct. 29. Ruml, who fathered the "pay-as-you-go" income tax program, originated the Democratic certificate plan to broaden the base of campaign contributions and increase the flow of financial help.

REPUBLICANS

Sen. Nixon Says 'No'

DETROIT (INS)—A spokesman for Sen. Richard Nixon said Tuesday night that Gen. Eisenhower's release of his income tax data has not altered Nixon's decision not to bare his income tax returns.

The Republican vice presidential candidate's press secretary, James Bassett, reiterated a statement made earlier in the day. He told newsmen:

"We've been through that before. I can tell you the senator will not make public his income tax returns because he feels that the entire subject was covered in his television broadcast."

Bassett was referring to a half hour nationwide television show in which Nixon discussed his financial affairs.

Since that time the Democrats have been clamoring that Nixon did not offer a complete accounting of his finances. They ask, among other things, where the California senator got $20,000 he said was used as a down payment on a house in Washington.

Ike Has A Birthday

EN ROUTE WITH EISENHOWER (INS)—Sixty-two years to the day, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower returned to the state where he was born to ask for his fellow Texans' support for the highest office in the land.

The Republican candidate celebrated his 62nd birthday by campaigning with all his might, as a native son of the Lone Star State, in an effort to win Texas' 26 electoral votes.

The former five-star general was born in a small frame cottage in the little town of Denison, Tex., on October 14, 1890 where Ike's father worked on the railroad.

Eisenhower senior had failed in business in Kansas and had taken a job as common laborer to tide the family over until something better turned up. Later the family moved back to Kansas where Ike grew up.

The general's birthday observance started shortly after 7 a.m. Just as the Eisenhower special rolled into the station at Houston four little girls appeared carrying a large birthday cake.

$5,000 Pay Hike Asked For Med Dean

Gustavson Would Also Get Boost

The proposed budget of the University of Nebraska with plans for reorganization of the medical school at Omaha would make Dean J. P. Tollman the highest paid state employee at $17,000 yearly. He would also be supervisor of the University hospital. His total salary now is $12,000.

The salary of Chancellor R. G. Gustavson would be upped from the present $14,500 to $16,000.

This compares with the governor's salary of $10,000 and $8,500 for Supreme Court justices.

Principal salary increases are in the medical school, agricultural college and extension division.

The budget provides $12,000 to replace Dr. Carl Borgman, who resigned as dean of facilities at $11,500 to become president of the University of Vermont. J. P. Colbert, dean of student affairs is scheduled for an increase from $9,000 to $9,700 and Dean of Women Marjorie Johnston from $5,400 to $5,700.

Floyd Hoover, director of registrations would go from $6,400 to $7,500 and C. A. Donaldson, director of purchasing, from $6,600 to $7,500.

The highest paid woman on the staff, Doretta Schlaphoff, chairman of the home economics department is listed for an increase from $7,650 to $8,260.

Among increases proposed at the college of agriculture and extension service are:

Dean W. V. Lambert $11,000 to $12,000.
Marvel Baker, assistant director, $8,700 to $10,000.
Edward Janike, assistant director, $7,600 to $9,400.
George Round, extension editor and public relations, $6,800 to $8,060.
E. F. Frolik, chairman agronomy department, $7,800 to $8,420.
W. J. Loeffel, chairman animal husbandry, $8,200 to $8,860.
Phillip Kelly, chairman dairy husbandry, $7,700 to $8,320.
W. B. Allington, chairman plant pathology, $7,800 to $8,400.
E. E. Musschl, chairman poultry husbandry, $7,600 to $8,500.

Governor Says School Lands Board Too Busy

"The board (educational lands and funds) has too much to do to give its best efforts to administering school lands," Gov. Val Peterson said in commenting on a Legislative Council committee report that recommended a new agency be set up instead of the present board of ex-officio members who are elected officials.

The remark from the executive who has won the appelation "absentee governor" was incongrous in that he and Secretary of State James Pittenger have spent much of their time in recent weeks outside of the state engaged in political activity while the other board members were just back at their desks after weeks of campaigning over the state.

Further, he praised the recommendation that a manager of the lands be employed following a previous statement that "tightening of state spending" was necessary.

The governor said the present board had powers to employ such a manager if the legislature appropriated the money but that he considered it the responsibility of the legislature to give such instructions.

Criticism in the report that the board accepted written bids for leases after auctions of leases were closed, the governor said was due to following legal advice. He explained that it would require a fundamental change in law and probably the Constitution if the board did not protect the trust that was placed in it.

Rents have been increased in past years, he pointed out, and said some rents were "all the productivity of the land would justify." He expressed the belief that it might be advisable to halt erection of permanent buildings by tenants on school lands.

Government Buys More Turkey On Surplus Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department said Tuesday it has bought an additional 1,611,000 pounds of frozen ready-to-cook turkeys under the surplus removal program.

Total purchases now amount to 9,643,600 pounds since the program went into effect Aug. 26. The turkeys will be turned over for use in non-profit school lunch programs.

★ ★ ★ ★ Val Not Happy With NU Budget

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Val Peterson stopped off at his office Tuesday for a day enroute from a television program in Columbus, O., Sunday night to a political speech at the University of Minnesota, Tuesday night.

At a press conference, basing his comments on newspaper reports, he discussed the proposed budget of the University of Nebraska. He said he had not seen the university proposal, but used it to toss off political phrases such as the "drunken inflationary spree in which we have been engaged."

The absentee governor said, "It has been my hope that all state institutions in the coming biennium would be able to operate on the same appropriation that they did in the past biennium." He went on to say that the code departments, under his direction, had kept expenditures 5 per cent below the amount appropriated.

Definite Pattern

The university, he said, has been following a definite pattern and quoted its expenditures from the general fund over the past 10 years. He gave the following figures:

1945-47	$ 4,873,000
1947-49	6,602,000
1949-51	8,000,000
1951-53	12,500,000
1953-55	16,356,000 (requested)

Some of the salaries being paid and new proposals in the university budget, he said, were "out of line with salaries paid in the Statehouse."

He explained that the Supreme Court, code department heads and some others are in jobs that require "as much in terms of education, experience and responsibility" as do members of the university staff.

"The solution is not to tear down university salaries," he hastened to add, but to bring the state salary basis to one of equality taking into consideration the importance of the various positions.

The governor said that he could not pass judgment on the university budget request until he has studied it and conferred with university officials.

"There is still the big question I have raised every two years," he continued. "How much can the taxpayers afford to pay, granting the worthwhileness and desirability of activities involved? This is a question the new governor, Legislature and the people will have to face."

The governor said the university is one of the big four spending agencies and if it has to have a 31 per cent increase in funds, "you can be certain the other three will have equally strong reasons for increases."

Ceilings Back On Radio, TV Parts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Government Tuesday night ordered price ceilings restored on radio, television and phonograph parts to protect consumers on charges for repairs.

The action is the first taken by the Office of Price Stabilization to recontrol items on which ceilings had been suspended. These parts were suspended from controls Aug. 29, along with radio and television sets and phonographs.

Farmer Killed, Wife Hurt As Tractor Upsets

BAYARD, Neb. (AP)— A Bayard farmer was killed and his wife was injured when the tractor they were riding overturned near their home northeast of Bayard.

Emery E. Garvin, 56, died almost instantly of a skull fracture. His wife was believed to have been pinned under the tractor for more than an hour before Garvin's brother-in-law, I. E. McRae, a neighbor, discovered the accident.

Doyle Quits Post At Own Request

WASHINGTON (AP)— Howard L. Doyle, long-time U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of Illinois, Tuesday was relieved of his duties at his own request.

Doyle, 58, last week gave a House investigating committee a story of making $86,517 in fees from outside private law practice between 1945 and 1950.

He insisted that the practice was wholly permissable under federal regulations and asserted he had never neglected his official duties. He said the case involved no conflict of interest with the government.

Headquarters of the Southern Illinois District is at Springfield. Doyle has been the district attorney for 17 years.

Wheat Condition Continues Poor In State

100-Bushel Corn Yields Are Found

Continued drought since the first of September has resulted in poor condition of most of Nebraska's winter wheat, the state and federal weekly weather and crop report shows.

The report points out that there has been practically no precipitation in the winter wheat belt during the past three weeks and the entire state needs a rain badly.

The condition of pasture is reported far below the average with the range being very dry, brittle and unpalatable.

The report shows the hay crop is the second highest of record, however, and minor crops are reported to be exceptionally good.

Pickers Have Trouble

Because of the dry stalks and husks, mechanical pickers are having some difficulty in corn picking, the report continues. Some ears are reported to drop to the ground and more husks than usual are left on the ears. A few farmers are harvesting with a picker sheller and marketing corn direct from the field.

Corn yields are generally good, the report shows, and the quality, exceptionally good. A few dry land fields have been reported a 100 bushels an acre with irrigated fields exceeding that. The Oct. 1 estimate was 36 bushels per acre and production 254,880,000 bushels.

Preliminary yield reports from the western two-thirds of the state are about average despite the damage from lack of rain.

In minor crops, grain sorghum has matured with a very good yield, the report reveals. The soybean crop is the largest of record and the yield of 24 bushels has not been exceeded.

Dry edible bean yield is the second highest of record and production is nearly up to the 10-year average despite the reduced acreage.

The sugar beet yield is among the higher yields of record and the production is considerably above average. Potato yield is the second highest of record and the damage from the freeze is estimated not to exceed 3 per cent of the total crop.

Although most crops are good this year, the report shows dry, hot June weather reduced the oat, barley and spring wheat yield.

Poultry Industry Future Said Dependent Upon 4-H And FFA

The future of the poultry raising industry lies with 4-H and FFA members and other scientific-minded people.

There still is a place for the farm flock on any farm where stock and grain are raised.

The most profit from poultry and most efficient production comes from larger flocks. There is profit in the broiler business and large opportunities in the operation, but it has to be in volume.

Those were some of the comments presented during a panel discussion at the annual poultry field day Tuesday at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture campus. Participants included Mrs. Bob Skinner of Herman, a poultry producer; Herman Dahlberg of Omaha, representative of a processing firm; Clifford Rahel, a broiler grower near Valley; Sam Schwerin, a Norfolk hatcheryman, and Bill Macdonald, a Lincoln poultry producer. About 200 attended the program.

Mrs. Skinner said people who raise poultry have to be scientific-minded in order to make the operation a success. She added that a poultry project is ideal for 4-H and FFA members, but there are not enough clubs taking an interest in poultry.

Good Investment

Schwerin cited statistics on a farm near Norfolk which maintains a flock of 1,000 laying hens. He says the farmer has been able to make $345 monthly from the operation over feed costs. Charles Gaydou, a Blair hatcheryman, who moderated the discussion, told the audience: "Compare that profit with other farm enterprises in proportion to the investment."

Rahel said opportunities are unlimited in the broiler business. The Lehar poultry farm, which he operates, turns over 200,000 broilers a year. Profit, he said, is made by a small margin on each bird—about 10 cents. A processing plant in Omaha he said, will take all the broilers it can get and has them shipped in from other states.

Another panel discussion in the afternoon was on the subject of "What Kind of Poultry Houses Should We Build?" Participants included Art Baumberger, a hatchery manager at Hastings; Marvin Vautravers, a broiler grower near Grand Island; Lee Taggert, an engineer for a Peru construction firm; Bob Graff, a poultry producer near Beatrice, and L. Q. Brictson, representative of a manufacturing firm at Fort Atkinson, Wis.

'Deserves Break'

The flock owner deserves a "better break" than he has been getting from the public, Dr. E. M. Funk of the University of Missouri told the group earlier in the day.

"The flock owner who spends seven days a week and 365 days a year caring for a flock of chickens certainly deserves more (money) than he has been getting this past year," Dr. Funk said.

Dr. Ephriam Hixson, University of Nebraska entomologist, told the crowd that if the practice of mixing old and young birds in laying and breeding flocks were stopped, the problem of lice could be eliminated.

Sanitation in animal production, he said, still is of first importance in insect control. Too many, he said, use the residual type sprays to control insect pests, then permit dust to cover the insecticide, making it ineffective in a short time. Then, he added, many are quick to report the insecticide "no good" and to accept anything for sale as a good remedy.

One of the highlights of the meeting was a chicken barbecue Tuesday evening.

Town Talk And Tattle

MIGHT BE nice if the weatherman made up his mind what was what—but then things could be so much worse—such as ice, snow and below zero temperatures, that we suspect we'd better let well enough alone—One thing about social activity—it never keeps you guessing.

THIS MORNING for instance, we learned that Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Meehan will be a dinner host and hostess when they entertain this evening at the University Club in prenuptial courtesy to Miss Ann Gilligan and her fiance, Carter Frederick Iddings, whose marriage will be solemnized on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Meehan have invited fifteen guests for the dinner and an informal evening.

* * *

YESTERDAY, so we hear, was Mrs. Fred Roberts' eighty-third birthday anniversary, and in celebration of the event there was a family dinner at Cotner Terrace. Included in the family group were Mrs. Roberts' brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Williams of South Gate, Cal., who are the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Williams, and Mrs. Barrett Castle of Knoxville, Tenn., who is the house guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frank de Brown who, as you probably know, are Mrs. Roberts' son and daughter-in-law.

TUESDAY also was celebration day for Frederick Allen Poindexter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen Poindexter, who was five years old. Young Frederick, we might add, had two parties—one of them was at school when his kindergarten classmates were guests—and the second affair was the family dinner Tuesday evening.

TOOK A LOOK at the late week calendar and found that Mrs. Harold Mattoon is to be a luncheon hostess on Saturday at her home. Following luncheon the guest eightsome will spend the afternoon with bridge.

APROPOS OF brief visits, let's mention Jimmy Pickering of New York City who was in town very briefly the past week-end.

* * *

SINCE YESTERDAY we've added another bridge club to the week's calendar—On Thursday Mrs. Charles T. Stuart will be hostess to the members of her bridge club when she entertains at luncheon at the Lincoln Country club.

IT'S GETTING about time for some of our European travelers to turn homeward—Some of them will be arriving within another week, but we hear that Mrs. E. P. McLaughlin and her daughter, Miss Helen McLaughlin, will be docking in New York City on Tuesday, October 21.

WOMAN'S EXCHANGE

Pamper Your Skin

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Among the most distressed queries that find their way into my mail are those from charmers whose otherwise lovely complexions are marred by broken veins.

Although we know of no cure at this time, the skillful use of cosmetics will alleviate both the veined effect and the unnatural flush that they cause, toning them down to the vanishing point. It is important to practice the technique of application until you perfect it so note each step carefully:

After cleansing your face, apply an opaque type of powder base in a shade that matches your normal skin coloring. Be sparing in the amount you use and smooth it on so evenly that no line of demarcation can be seen at the chin, ears and hairline. If one application is insufficient, apply a second after the first has had time to set. But never try to get coverage with one heavy layer of base or the result is sure to look false.

Any veins that refuse to be screened out after this careful application will yield to the artful use of a lipstick brush and some rouge. Using a very light tint of either cream or fluid rouge, fill in the spaces between the veins. Use great care to avoid touching the veins themselves with rouge as that would defeat your purpose.

Allow this application to set for at least ten minutes. Then spread a layer of tissue over the entire face like a mask and with light pressure, firm it against the whole surface. Now peel it off from the top downward.

Next, lavishly press on powder and let it set before removing any excess with light downward strokes of a clean cotton ball. Lastly, take a good look in the mirror. The effect will put to flight any vestige of self-consciousness you may have had over your difficulty.

To prevent any spread of the problem, avoid the use of both hot water and ice on your face. Seek the advice of a doctor before employing facials or massage. Always handle your skin with a feather touch.

Mrs. I. G. Spurling of York, was hostess Monday to the members of the Hannah Duston chapter of the Daughters of American Colonists. The group met at the York city library where Mrs. O. G. Palmer, past state regent of the Daughters of Founders and Patriots of America, directed a tour through the museum.

Following the luncheon at the home of Mrs. Spurling, whose daughter, Mrs. R. M. Crooks was assisting hostess, Miss Isabel McOmber of Crete, presided at the meeting. Later in the afternoon, the chapter members went to the home of Mrs. Palmer and her sister, Mrs. Don Leonard, where family heirlooms and antiques were exhibited and tea was served.

Appointed treasurer of the chapter was Mrs. J. D. Menke of Crete, who succeeds Mrs. R. C. Patterson, now residing at Tucson, Ariz. The next meeting of the group will be held in Lincoln at the home of Mrs. B. K. Worrall, in February, when Dr. Maude R. Bell will present a program on kitchen utensils of Colonial days.

Lincoln members of the chapter who attended the meeting were Mrs. H. M. Rathburn, Mrs. B. K. Worrall, Mrs. L. C. Wimberly, Miss Jeanette Spealman and Dr. Maude R. Bell.

Minerva's Mail

Take Your Troubles To Minerva

We had just about room for Aunt Mary's letter yesterday, but not enough space to answer it—Aunt Mary, if you will think back about twenty-four hours, wrote about the plight of a woman sixty-seven years of age who was fearful of growing old with no one to know whether she was ill—or even dead.

ANS. I never cease to become irritated at sons and daughters who find their parents a great burden. Naturally no house is large enough for two families, and when parents must move in with their children there almost always is a little friction. But do the children who shun the parents ever stop to realize that those same parents made many sacrifices on their behalf? That there would probably have been much more money, less worry, and considerable easier living had it not been for those children? Fortunately the sons and daughters who refuse to look after their parents are much, much in the minority.

Personally, Aunt Mary, I don't consider sixty-seven particularly aged—Maybe the lady in question doesn't either, but merely is looking into what must appear to her as a bleak future. Futures only are what we make them, and no matter how cloudy they seem worrying doesn't help a bit. There are many things about the lady you mentioned that I don't know—has she ever been employed, for instance? Is her health good at present? Is she an alert person? If she is healthy and intelligent I am suggesting that she find herself a job—Yes, a job—even at the age of sixty-seven. One has to be nigh on to a hundred these days to be beyond the stage of work, and I am sure that our sixty-seven year-old friend could find something to do. Not only would a job add to her present small income, but it would give her a sense of security—of being able to look after herself. She also could rest assured that the first time she didn't show for work someone would investigate—therefore eliminating the fear of being ill and no one knowing it. I am sure that in a small town the lady could find some sort of work in one of the shops—certainly in a larger place the opportunities for work would even be greater. It wouldn't have to be heavy work, and I doubt if she would demand a fabulous salary—Encourage her to find something to do if she isn't already working.

Education Board Asks City For School-Area Zoning Policy

Opposition To Changes Draws Fire

The City of Lincoln was asked Tuesday for an overall zoning policy as to the city's public schools by the Board of Education.

School representatives, in following board policy, have appeared before the city council to oppose commercial zones abutting school property or the proximity of business considered undesirable for school children.

Letter Approved

The board had no specific recommendations, but informally approved a letter be written to the mayor, who would turn the problem over to the appropriate city agency to study.

This problem came to a head during the boards meeting with the appearance of Don E. Dixon, Lincoln realtor, and Tom Pansing, his representative.

The realtor protested the board's opposition to a proposed commercial zone on Adams, between 59th and 60th street, and opproximately two blocks from Northeast High School land. Almost simultaneously the board had opposed a similar Zone proposed by Strauss Brothers north of Adams and directly across the street from Northeast property.

Earlier, Paul H. Watt, Bartholomew & Associates representative, told that the city park commission was in favor of combining Sherwood Park with the school site in the Home Builder's Association's housing development in Havelock.

In other action the board approved:

1. Seven cents a mile for use of private cars for city driving of school members in their duties with exceptions.
2. Professional growth points for teachers supervising student teachers in the Lincoln school system. One credit will be allowed for each semester hour of credit earned by the student teacher, with a maximum of 15 points in any six-year period.
3. Warranty deed conveying to the city additional land to permit 52-foot wide paving on 22nd street, from J north to the alley.
4. Award of a $3,300 printing contract to the Graham Printing Co., for the Lincoln High School annual. The engraving contract went to The Journal-Star Printing Co., accepted as low bidder because of better discounts.

State Denies Policy Changes On Assistance

Assistance department operation policies adopted by the state board of control at the request of the Lancaster county board have not been superseded by the policy objected to by the county, Mrs. Harold Prince, chairman of the board of control, said she was informed Tuesday.

The board of control formerly approved use of county assistance cases as a training ground for students at the University of Nebraska graduate school of social work.

On complaint of Leroy Hultberg, county assistance director, that the plan was not an efficient operation because the students were under the direction of university instructors rather than the responsible county administration, after a conference with the county board the board of control changed policy and stopped use of students.

Tuesday complaints began coming into the board of control office from assistance recipients that case workers from the county office coming to their homes were aliens and could scarcely speak English making it hard for them to answer questions.

Mrs. Prince said she made inquiry and was informed by Commissioner Russell Brehm that the county had made a separate agreement with the school of social work and was ignoring the board policy and allowing students to practice case work on relief recipients.

The county board has full authority in employment of assistance workers under supervisory policies adopted by the board of control and Social Security Board which includes merit system selection and educational qualifications.

Actress Presents Complete Show By Herself

Since her original home was in Illinois, portraying midwestern characters is the speciality of Virginia Sale — the actress who presents a complete show by herself.

Off stage the actress is Mrs. Sam Wren, and the mother of 16-year-old twins, a daughter and a son. But on stage, she is anything from a mustachioed old man to a sweet young girl.

She was in Lincoln Tuesday night where she presented a show at St. Paul's Methodist Church sponsored by the Nebraska Nurses Association, District 3, to help raise funds for the office.

Among her characterizations Tuesday were "Wren's Nest," from her television show, "On a Panhandler Bus" and the play "Dakota Fever," which composed the second half of the production.

Since she began traveling a great deal, the actress says she has gradually "assimilated other characters" outside of midwesters. She is from Urbana, Ill.

All her stage equipment, including lighting, is carried with her in a trunk. She plans, however, to simplify this even more in the future.

Setting up the stage settings and equipment for one show takes the actress about two or three hours. Once it is ready, however, she never interrupts the show until intermission.

One of her former accompanists, Mrs. Roseanna Wheaton, is a daughter of a Lincoln family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Williams. Mrs. Wheaton accompanied the actress when she first began the characterizations in Hollywood and later on the east coast.

Her "one woman show" was started in Hollywood when she used to entertain girls at the press club. Encouraged by them to expand her characterizations, Miss Sale said she finally got together a show and started presenting it.

Counselors Installed By DeMolay Chapter

K. D. Woolman was installed as master counselor of the Lincoln Chapter of the Order of DeMolay at a meeting held Tuesday night at the Scottish Rite Temple.

Others installed were Lloyd Reed, senior counselor, and Dick Bacon, junior counselor.

No Agreement Is Found For Parking Issue

The City Council has again discussed the problems of 15 minute parking and parking on city property and has again failed to come up with a solution.

The question of where 15 minute parking zones should be located in the block was disposed of by instructing Welfare and Safety Director Ray Osborn to determine how many such zones were required by businesses requesting the zones.

The question of whether or not to allow cars to park on city property between the street and sidewalk was disposed of by appointing a three-man committee to investigate the matter. The committee is composed of Councilwoman Mrs. Fern Hubbard Orme and Councilmen Chauncey W. D. Kinsey and Pat Ash.

Architect Firm Hired For New Southeast Lincoln Fire Station

The City Council has employed the architectural firm of John and George Unthank to prepare plans and specifications for erection of the new fire station in southeast Lincoln.

The station will be started in the 1952-53 fiscal year on the northeast corner of Cotner and A.

A court hearing will be held Wednesday on the city's condemnation action to acquire the necessary land.

The architects will be paid a fee equivalent to 6 per cent of the total cost of construction of the station. No contract providing for a date for submission of plans has yet been made.

3rd Appeal Filed In Accident Case

Victor A. Weisenmiller, 934 So. 29th, filed a motion in District Court Tuesday for the third time for a new trial in his accident damage suit against Gunner A. Nestor, Boise, Idaho.

The petition lists 39 counts including the discovery of new evidence.

Weisenmiller was injured when he was run over by a car on May 27, 1948, near Memorial Park Cemetery. He claims the car which struck him was driven by Nestor. Weisenmiller is asking a judgment of $25,000 and court costs.

Sheridan And Riley School Contracts Totaling $286,461 Awarded

Contracts for the Sheridan School addition totaling $200,944.98 and for the Riley School addition of $85,517.72 were approved Tuesday by the Lincoln Board of Education.

W. J. Assenmacher Construction company was low bidder on the general contract for Sheridan. The revised contract, including alternates for steel windows instead of aluminum and remodeling of the kindergarten, totaled $153,300.

The board, between the opening of the bids on Oct. 10 and Tuesday's meeting, trimmed $16,000 from the original base bid by making changes in specifications.

The deducted $16,000 included the following major changes in the Sheridan specifications:

1. Omission of an enclosed north auditorium exit and replacement by a metal fire escape, $5,200.
2. Omission of two toilet rooms on the first floor and making a storage room and special students room in this area, $3,350.
3. Change from metal lath and plaster to acoustical tile on ceilings to perforated rock lath and acoustical plaster on ceiling and regular plaster on walls, $5,700.

The plumbing and heating bid of the Acme Plumbing and Heating company was revised downward to $37,694.98. Deducted was $1,500 for fixtures in the abandoned first floor toilets.

The electrical contract was awarded George Knapp on a low bid of $9,950.

For the Riley addition, George Cook's low base bid of $62,425, which included aluminum windows and no alternates, was accepted.

Obtain Usable Stoker

However, the board trimmed $1,280.40 from the base bids for electrical and plumbing when Ralph H. Park, assistant superintendent of maintenance and operations, was able to obtain a usable stoker, "needing little repair" to be installed by school workers.

The electrical contract was awarded to the Southside Electrical Construction Company for $4,365.81 and the plumbing contract of $18,736.81 went to low bidder, Acme Plumbing and Heating company. Deductible alternates of $50 and $1,230.40, respectively, were accepted.

Overall construction plans include two additional classrooms and remodeling to include all-purpose room, kindergarten and library at the Riley School and for Sheridan, six classrooms, auditorium and all-purpose room.

Expenditures and commitments, including the above contract awards, now total $1,142,572.46 of the $6,000,000 voted in the 1951 bond issue for new construction.

The contract costs to date are running approximately $100,000 under the estimated construction costs, the board announced.

SUTHERLAND and Milford switched fourth and fifth place berths for the only changes involving six-man clubs in The Lincoln Star's fourth weekly ratings of the 1952 campaign.

Both boasting unblemished records, the Sailors jumped to fourth place after racking up their fifth win of the season at Stapelton, 59-26. Milford rang up victory number four in sliding to fifth place, but Ulysses had the Eagle's offensive machine stilled, 34-18.

Coach Bob Ley's Lawrence Panthers continue to lead the six-man parade. The Panthers scorched Hardy 59-0 last week in hanging up their season's fifth win. Ley's charges have rolled to 245 points in five games, while holding their opponents to a mere six.

Brady clung to the runnerup spot after earning a forfeit from Maxwell last week to run the Eagles victory string to five. The Eagles also hold decisions over Merna, Hershey, Elm Creek and St. Patrick's of North Platte.

Dick Clayton piloted his Palisade Panthers past Parks, 46-6, to give the Panthers a firm grip on sixth place with an undefeated record that shows five straight triumphs.

The Chester Bulldogs, in seventh place, rolled to their highest score of the season by cracking Beaver Crossing, 41-20. Wood River bounded back from its loss to Lawrence and rolled over Overton, 33-0, to hold on to the eighth place berth.

Indianola stayed in ninth place in the ratings by thumping Holbrook, 42-12, for its fourth win of the season. Trailing the pack in last place are the Alvo Orioles, after an idle date last week.

Four other six-man clubs in the state claim clean records, but their competition to date hasn't been as keen as that of the top ten. Still looking for their first defeat are Leigh with four wins, Wilcox with five wins, Coleridge with six triumphs, and Cairo with five victories.

John Shueey's Doniphan Cardinals appear a strong contender to break into the top ten before the season is over. Riding in seventh place, the Cardinals toppled from the top ten in the last ratings after falling to Axtell, 27-12. Last week they came back to stomp Wolbach, 40-0.

Wymore's Ron VanLanningham Wins 'Star Of Week' Honors

Ron VanLanningham, the Wymore scatback who's running and passing over-shadows his 136-pound stature, earns The Lincoln Star's "Star of the Week" honors for his brilliant offensive performance against Wilber last week.

Cavorting at left halfback for the Zephyrs, VanLanningham accounted for two of his team's touchdowns via the ground and tossed touchdown passes for the other two.

A senior, VanLanningham has been one of the big reasons for Zephyrs improved showing this season and their eighth place berth in the Class C ratings.

Other prep stars:

Bob Wegelin, Scottsbluff — Quarterbacked his team to a near upset over Defending Champion Lincoln High. Operating from the T formation, Wegelin passed for the Bearcats lone score of the evening.

Don Svehla, Friend — Intercepted Geneva pass to set up winning tally as Friend upset Geneva, 13-7.

Jim Griffin, Seward — Scored all the Blue jays points, besides setting up the first tally on a 96-yard sprint, as Seward dumped Central City, 18-0

Don Baethe, Tecumseh — Contributed three touchdowns and an extra point to Tecumseh's 25-0, whitewashing of Peru Prep.

Ken Conrad, Burwell — Tallied all the Longhorn's points as Burwell stumped Ravenna, 19-7

Myrle Nickman, Pleasanton — Turned in strong defensive game during Pleasanton's win over Anselmo.

LaVerne Tarczaon, Platte Center — Rang up 46 points as Platte Center scorched St. Edward, 53-38.

Clayton Finally Loses To Irish

BOSTON (AP) —Tommy Collins stripped Ronnie Clayton of two boxing claims Tuesday night, getting a technical knockout over the British featherweight titlist in 2:58 of the fifth round of their scheduled 10 rounder.

Clayton had boasted that he had never been knocked off his feet or beaten by an Irishman in his 104 previous professional starts.

Salas Defends Title Tonight

CHICAGO (AP)—Lauro Salas, the only Mexican ever to hold an undisputed boxing title, is bursting with confidence that he will hang onto his lightweight crown tonight over Jimmy Carter.

"I read that Carter is favorite 2-1 but that is crazy odds," says the Monterrey mauler who works out of Los Angeles.

Carter lost the title to Salas by decision in an upset at Los Angeles five months ago.

The scheduled 15-rounder at Chicago Stadium will begin at 9 p.m. Lincoln time and will be televised and broadcast nationally.

Plainsmen Gridders Rank High Among Nation's Small Colleges

NEBRASKA Wesleyan University individual and team play ranked high in nine of the ten statistical categories reported by the football statistical service of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics today.

The latest figures compiled by the National Small College statistical service, showed Omaha University, led by Keith Christie, to be the only other Nebraska school represented.

The figures again pointed out that although the seasonal record of a single win in five starts is shoddy, Coach Roy B. Robertson has developed a potent offensive punch, rolling along at better than 321 rushing and passing yards per game.

Most of the Plainsman power is wrapped up in Wes Hultquist, the chunky David City halfback whose name was included in five of the six individual categories revealed by the NAIA.

Marv Macy, the freshman quarterback from Beatrice, joined Hultquist in two of the individual brackets—total offense and passing.

Hultquist is second to Richie Woit of Arkansas State in scoring. Woit has 54 points, Hultquist 30. He is fifth among pass receivers, with 10 caught for a net gain of 152 yards and 18th among passers, having pitched 11 completions in 27 attempts for 152 yards.

The Wesleyan ace is 13th in total offense with 300 yards, including 152 on passes and 148 rushing. Among punters he ranks fourth, with an average of 42.6 yards.

Macy is eighth among passers, with 16 completions for 25 tries and a net gain of 233 yards. Also eighth in total offense, he has netted 320 yards.

Omaha U's Christie is fifth among punters with a 42.5 yard average and seventh in total offense with 330 yards—107 rushing and 223 passing.

The Indians are 17th in total team passing offense with a net of 223 yards. Wesleyan is third with 373. In rushing, the Plainsmen rank 11th with 591 yards and are fourth in total team offense with a net of 164 yards.

Overhauling THE NEWS

By WALLY DeBROWN

Well, the great indoor sport in the Fall semester is picking the winners of the week-end football frays. All you need is a pencil stub and an opinion . . . even a biased one. If all the limbs that football fanatics go out on during the pigskin season were laid end to end you could start a branch office.

"Experts" who make a business of selecting teams always add an "If" to the end of their running start alibi if the foot-statements. This gives them a ball bounces the wrong way and the favorites bog down. Of course, you can always blame losses on the officiating. The officials are used to it by now.

(These two letters were in the mail today.)

George (Potsy) Clark
Athletic Director
University of Nebraska
Dear Potsy:

Since Saturday night, I've been going over an idea that won't seem to leave the old brain. So I'll pass it on to you.

About the only people who knew Saturday that Bob Reynolds, the champ, was playing his last game, were the press and radio. Never did the crowd have opportunity to applaud this all-time All-American as he walked away from Memorial Stadium for the last time.

The idea is this. How about a special day for Reynolds during one of the two remaining home games? You know, let the card section and Prof. Don Lentz's fine band do him some honors. Let the crowd pay him final homage for what he is—one of Nebraska's finest of history.

It somehow doesn't seem right that Reynolds should be finished without a tribute from one of the Memorial Stadium crowds whom he gave so many unforgettable moments.

How about it?

Best always,

Dear Francis:

You might remember me from the days when I was on the campus paper at Northwestern and you were with the Chicago Daily News. We used to give old Dyke Stadium a pretty good fat-chewing when we got together.

What I had in mind was, in brief, this: The appearance of Bobby Reynolds, Nebraska halfback, in your East-West game of Dec. 27.

Reynolds, as you perhaps have read, suffered a slight shoulder separation against Kansas State Saturday and is out for the remainder of the Nebraska season. The injury, according to the doctors, will be healed in six weeks which would give him plenty of time to get ready for your big game.

You know his history. An all time collegiate scoring record of 157 points as a sophomore, the national rushing leader with 1,348 yards and unanimous All-American mention. Injured (separation of the other shoulder and lime burn in the eye) during his junior year and, finally, injury again in the fourth game of his senior year.

He is the type of boy who would be ideal to follow the tradition of such Nebraska greats as George Sauer in your game. May I recommend that you do not overlook Bobby Reynolds.

Sincerely,
NORRIS ANDERSON,

Nebraska Second In Nation In Rushing Yardage; Bordogna Is Among Leaders

By NORRIS ANDERSON
Sports Editor, The Star

A WIDE open offensive duel looms when Nebraska meets Penn State in the shadow of Nittany Mountain Saturday.

That is the prediction of Coach J. William Glassford of the Cornhuskers — and the participants' statistics prove his point.

The only difference seems to be in the defensive figures. Nebraska has yielded far less yardage on the ground.

While Penn State has outrushed four foes (Temple, Purdue, William and Mary and West Virginia) by 1,308 yards to 1,024, the Huskers have outyarded four opponents by 1,414 to 460.

Nebraska now ranks second nationally in rushing offense. The Huskers trail only California's average of 320 yards per game.

In total offense, the Huskers rank 13th.

Nebraska still bears a high national rating on defense despite Kansas State's amassing 204 yards in passing. The Huskers are fourth in rushing defense and ninth in total defense.

Quarterback John Bordogna may eventually replace the departed Bobby Reynolds as a national offensive hero. Johnny currently ranks ninth in the national individual rushing totals with 362 yards in 81 carries. He is 17th in total offense with 523 yards.

Among Big Seven ball carriers, Bordogna ranks second only to Buck McPhail of Oklahoma, who has amassed 412 yards. He is eighth in passing with 11 completions in 26 tries for 161 yards.

Glassford fears the passing of Quarterback Tony Rados, of the Lions. Rados ranks 10th nationally with 38 completions in 73 tries for 503 yards.

Rados, who burst into the national limelight by outpitching Purdue's Dale Samuels in a brilliant duel, added to his reputation against West Virginia and now is rated among the top ten passers in the country.

The Steelton (Pa.) Slingshot connected on 13 of 20 passes against the Mountaineers to bring his season mark to 38 of 73 for 503 yards and five touchdowns. His completion percentage now is 52.1 and his yardage per completion a respectable 13.3.

Jesse Arnelle, the basketball giant who also excels as a pass receiver in football, snared six against West Virginia to bring his season record to 16 for 170 yards. Dick Jones and Joe Yukica are right behind him with 5 for 158 and 9 for 100, respectively.

On the ground, the diminutive Jones is still running out in front with 217 yards in 50 carries for an average of 4.3 yards per try. Dick's fellow-scatback, Matt Yanosich, owns runner-up honors with 169 yards in 41 carries for an average of 4.1 yards per try.

Jones and Bob Pollard are the scoring leaders with three touchdowns each, followed by Rados, Yanosich and Bob Szajna with two each. Bill Leonard, extra point specialist, kicked four of four against West Virginia to bring his record to 13 out of 15 for the year.

An all-around offense and defense overhauling was the Husker menu Tuesday.

Guard Jerry Paulson is listed as the only doubtful starter. Paulson, limited by a bruised shoulder, may be replaced by George Prochaska, who came off the injured list and played two quarters against Kansas State.

A traveling squad of 37 Huskers will leave by plane Friday morning for Pennsylvania.

Shantz Gets Majority In All-Star Poll

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1952 major league All-Star team, announced Tuesday, is almost brand new everywhere except the infield.

Larry Yogi Berra edged out Brooklyn's Roy Campanella for the catchers' spot. His battery mates were solid choices—Bobby Shantz, the Athletics' 24-game winner, and Robin Roberts of the Phillies, who had the season's best record at 28-7.

Shantz received the most votes, getting 70 of the 72 cast. Musial, who also received votes for first base, was on 68 ballots.

Of the four players who are holdovers from the 1951 selection, three of them are infielders—First Baseman Ferris Fain of the Philadelphia Athletics, Second Baseman Jackie Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Shortstop Phil Rizzuto of the New York Yankees.

The fourth returnee is Stan Musial, St. Louis Cardinal outfielder making the honor team for the sixth time. He has missed only once since the team was first picked in 1946.

New York's World Champion Yankees placed three men on the 10-man team while the Philadelphia Athletics placed two.

Completing the infield was Al Rosen, who batted .302 for the Cleveland Indians. Joining Musial in the outfield were Hank Sauer of the Chicago Cubs and Mickey Mantle of the Yankees.

Gagne, Togo Easy Victors

Verne Gagne, cited as the most logical contender for the heavyweight wrestling crown, made his Lincoln appearance a successful one Tuesday night by outlasting Joe Dusek, the Omaha meanie, in their two-out-of-three-fall bout.

Well versed in the art of dirty play, Dusek handily won the first fall after a mere 33 seconds with a series of drop kicks and a knee press.

Gagne came back with a sleeper to cop the second fall in 6:20, and then with both grapplers reeling with exhaustion, Gagne bounced off the ropes felling Dusek with a body slam and falling on him for the third fall.

In what turned out to be an abbreviated opening contest, Bill Melby, onetime University of Utah grid star, pummeled Gene Reardon of Kansas City in 20 seconds with a series of drop kicks and a cobra spread.

Lincoln's Mike DiBiase proved no match for Japan's Great Togo in the semiwindup as the Nipponese Sandman whisked the iron man to dream land in 15:20 with his famed and reliable sleeper hold.

Nebraska City Archers Shoot Four Doe Deer

Lincoln Star Special

NEBRASKA CITY—Four members of the Arbor Archers Club here showed skeptics that hunting with bow and arrow can be just as rewarding as stalking with a high-powered rifle.

Four hunters in the five-man party bagged doe deer last week at McGrath Game Refuge near Mille Lacs, Minn. The refuge is limited to hunting with bow and arrow.

The five making the trip were Jerry Dyer, Lee Fenton, Joe Krog, Paul Lima and Richard Voges, all of Nebraska City. They are among some 50 members of the Arbor Archers Club living in the Nebraska City area.

Sugar Ray Toys With Fight Idea

NEW YORK (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson, toying with the idea of retiring from the ring to take up a career as a night club entertainer, said Tuesday he was "debating" a middleweight title fight with Kid Gavilan in February or March in Miami.

"We're talking about it," he said.

"Manager George Gainford gets back from Paris, Oct. 27 or 28. We'll do nothing until he gets back."

Michigan State Is Back On Top Nation's Grid Pile

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Michigan State, the pre-season favorite, was back on top of The Associated Press Football Poll Tuesday but cannot afford to relax and take it easy.

At least two other teams with impressive, unmarred records—Maryland and California—are ready to step in the moment the Spartans let their guard down.

The Spartans recaptured the No. 1 position this week from Wisconsin, upset victim of Ohio State. They impressed sports writers and newscasters with the decisive way they manhandled Texas A&M, 48-6.

The first three weeks of the AP Poll have produced no single powerhouse which completely dominates the scene. Michigan State led the first poll before losing out last week to Wisconsin.

This week the Spartans won only a slim advantage over Maryland and California, both in first place ballots and in overall points.

In the poll, ten points are given for each first place vote, nine for second, and so forth.

Michigan State received 39 first place votes and a total of 1,026 points. Maryland, which whomped Georgia 37-0, got 31 first place votes and 961 points compared with 21 first place votes and 889 points for California. The Golden Bears beat Oregon Saturday, 41-7.

Completing the top ten are Georgia Tech, Duke, Oklahoma, Southern California, Kansas, Purdue and UCLA.

Wisconsin dropped out of the first ten on its 23-14 loss to Ohio State. Notre Dame, beaten 22-19 by Pitt, plummeted from eighth position and Princeton, its 24-game winning streak broken by Penn, fell from 10th to the "also rans."

New members of the top ten are Oklahoma, up from 12th to sixth; Purdue, from 16th to ninth, and UCLA, from 11th to tenth.

1.	Michigan State (39)	1,026
2.	Maryland (31)	961

More Birds, Rough Going Is Pheasant Hunt Outlook

AN INCREASED number of pheasants and unrestricted hunting across the state for the first time since the rinkneck population was decimated by the blizzard of 1949 made cheering news for Nebraska nimrods anticipating the opening of the pheasant season Friday.

But optimism was tempered by reports of extremely heavy cover. Hot, dry weather which has prevailed this fall has brought the heavy undergrowth to tinder dryness, adding a fire hazard to the discomforts bound to be experienced by hunters.

State game commission officials cautioned those going into the fields to take extreme care with matches and cigarets. The extended weather forecast indicates little or no precipitation prior to the opening day.

The season gets under way at Sunrise Friday and closes in Zone I on Nov. 23. Closing date in Zone II is Oct. 26. Zone II consists of Boyd, Blaine, Brown, Cherry, Garfield, Grant, Holt, Hooker, Keya Paha, Loup, Rock, Thomas and Wheeler Counties. The remainder of the state comprises Zone I. Both zones include certain Federal and State sanctuaries posted as "Pheasant Restocking Areas" in which hunting is prohibited.

Shooting hours are sunrise to sunset. Bag and possession limits in Zone I are four and four, in Zone II, the blizzard area, they have been halved—two and two.

There were scattered reports of slight success as the duck season got under way Saturday. The consensus was that shoot- will not be good until the state receives rain — "Four straight days of rain"—in the words of Bill Cunningham, State Game Commission Enforcement Chief.

Other veteran nimrods expressed the opinion that hunting would pick up when colder weather arrives, sending the birds down from the North.

One hunter, who reported moderate success in the Lincoln vicinity, said that it was necessary to first pump water into the ponds on which blinds were situated.

Hunting for prairie chickens in the Western part of the state was reported as "not bad," although hunters were having to work for those birds bagged.

Grand Jury Reportedy Saves Rivera

CHICAGO (AP)—A Cook County Grand Jury Tuesday reportedly refused to indict Manuel Jim Rivera, Chicago White Sox outfielder accused of rape of a 21-year-old housewife.

Rivera did not appear before the grand jury. He is at liberty on $5,000 bond set Sept. 30, two days after he had been seized by police.

River was accused by Mrs. Janet Gater, wife of an army private.

Rivera denied the charges. He admitted he was intimate with Mrs. Gater but insisted the act was committed with her consent.

Las Vegas Publisher Hurls 'Dirtiest Lie' At McCarthy

Communist Tag Denied In Affidavit

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A Las Vegas publisher accused by Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis) of being "an admitted ex-Communist" Tuesday swore out an affidavit denying the charge.

McCarthy

"It's the dirtiest lie McCarthy ever told," said Herman M. Greenspun, publisher of the Las Vegas Sun, after the two men tangled verbally at a Republican meeting Monday night.

Greenspun said he was publishing on The Sun's front page Wednesday morning an affidavit swearing he is not and never has been a Communist, nor consorted with Communists and fellow travelers. The publisher said he is offering $1,000 to anyone who can disprove one word of the affidavit.

Pointed Column

McCarthy, the object of a pointed column by Greenspun Monday, told the audience that the publisher was an "admitted ex-Communist" and referred to him as a violator of the Articles of War and an indicted smuggler.

Greenspun was fined $10,000 in 1950 in Los Angeles District Federal Court after pleading guilty to violating the Neutrality Act by smuggling arms to Israeli forces in their battle with the Arabs.

Regarding McCarthy's other charge, Greenspun said he—and an entire ward—were fined $25 each for overstaying a hospital leave by two hours on New Year's Eve, 1945. He was in an English hospital, recovering from wounds received in France.

Both Republicans

The ruckus between the two Republicans — Greenspun's paper is supporting Eisenhower—flared when McCarthy called the publisher to task for his column.

Greenspun's column asked the senator to answer questions about his income tax among other things.

Queen Elizabeth, Duke To Tour Islands In '53

LONDON (INS) — Buckingham Palace announced Tuesday that Queen Elizabeth II and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, will leave for a tour of New Zealand, Australia and Ceylon in December, 1953. They will be away from home for at least four months.

The royal couple will spend most of January, 1954, in New Zealand. They are scheduled to visit Australia and then head home early in April, by way of Ceylon.

Business, Sentiment Clash On Issue Of Lien Against Home Of Blind Woman

Business and sentiment met in a head-on collision during the Tuesday meeting of the Lancaster County Board of Commissioners with the result that any ruling on the controversial matter was postponed for a week.

A 57-year-old blind woman appeared before the board to ask that her home not be taken away from her in settlement of an old age assistance lien the county has on the property.

The woman was deeded the property by an elderly couple who had previously given the county a lien on their property in return for the old age assistance they received.

Chairman Chauncey Barney explained that the state has no pension plan and that relief given to the aged must come through taxes.

An attorney representing the woman said she would deed the property to the county in exchange for the privilege of remaining in the home until her death. Another alternative the attorney offered was a $3,000 compromise settlement of the lien the county holds against the property.

The commissioners have the right to compromise lien settlements "using business discretion," Barney emphasized.

Regent Sworn In

CAIRO (INS)— Prince Abdel Moneim, 53-year-old cousin of deposed King Farouk, was sworn in as sole regent of Egypt. He replaces the provisional three-man regency council which was set up after Farouk's abdiction last July.

OCT. 15...DENTAL JOURNAL NOW PUBLISHES THE DRAMATIC STORY!

How Chlorodent—in 60 days—improved the unhealthy mouths of 158 children from underprivileged homes

At famous Boys Town—the first scientific group study of its kind on acute gingivitis proves that simply brushing teeth twice a day with Chlorodent chlorophyll* toothpaste brought about "striking reduction in the number of cases with moderate, severe, and very severe gingivitis."

Chlorodent was found more than twice as effective as a white toothpaste.

This study at Father Flanagan's famous Boys Town put Chlorodent to a rigorous nine-month test—on children from such underprivileged backgrounds that 92% were afflicted with acute gingivitis!

In just two months, 78.6% of the boys using Chlorodent chlorophyll toothpaste showed dramatic improvement in mouth health. And the boys' teeth were purposely not cleaned professionally during the test.

These findings are considered so important that they have just been published in a national dental publication, The Journal of Periodontology.

Before coming to Father Flanagan's Boys Town, 92% of the children had acute gingivitis. Tests rigidly supervised by independent Boys Town dentists proved Chlorodent twice as effective as a white toothpaste for quickly reducing acute gingivitis!

This conclusive new evidence is in addition to established proof that Chlorodent destroys mouth odors... keeps teeth cleanest

Proof* that Chlorodent destroys mouth odors

In nearly 1000 bad-breath tests by a leading laboratory, Chlorodent deodorized the mouth instantly . . . kept twice as many people free of objectionable mouth odors, compared to a white toothpaste, for up to 4 hours! Used regularly, Chlorodent gives you a clean, fresh mouth all day!

Proof* that Chlorodent keeps teeth cleanest

In 395 comparisons, expert dental observers chose Chlorodent's cleansing ingredient for keeping teeth cleanest. Chlorodent reduces formation of mouth acids that "eat" into tooth enamel, causing painful, expensive tooth decay.

This is why Lever Brothers Company unconditionally guarantees that Chlorodent does more than any other dentifrice—white, ammoniated or chlorophyll—to give you a Clean Fresh Healthy Mouth

*water-soluble chlorophyllins

Chlorodent gives you up to 5 times more active* Chlorophyll

Only Chlorodent tints your brush such a rich chlorophyll green—proof of active chlorophyll . . . up to five times more!

Read actual report to dentists!

For reprints of the Chlorodent study in The Journal of Periodontology, write: Lever Brothers Company, Lever House, N. Y. 22. See dentist if mouth troubles persist.

GUARANTEE
If you do not agree that Chlorodent does more for you than any other toothpaste, return unused portion to us for refund of purchase price plus postage.

ONE MAN'S OPINION By Walter Kiernan

(Distributed by International News Service)

Nature seems to have its own system of checks and balances . . . it is now announced that people who drink heavily seldom get migraine headaches.

☆ ☆ ☆

This should be useful to the man who finds his employment endangered by his indulgences . . . In a pinch he can always challenge the boss with "When have I ever been out with a migraine headache?"

Kiernan

☆ ☆ ☆

My barber who has a hot-towel knowledge of the ravages of drink says that some of the shaken wretches he has seen would welcome migraine to what they wake up with.

☆ ☆ ☆

But "Boy, did I wake up with a migraine!" somehow doesn't sound as though it could be developed conversationally.

☆ ☆ ☆

There's a doctor in London who has a patient that travels from New York for migraine relief . . . The doctor hasn't said so but if this fellow also is subject to seasickness he must be filling the spot once held down by Job.

☆ ☆ ☆

Job was the fellow who got into Scripture by having boils . . . today he would be lucky if he could make Ripley.

QUIRKS

CHICAGO — Mrs. Margurette Amsel, 45, accused her former husband, Samuel, 56, of not paying $2,200 in back alimony, hauled him into a Chicago court, and then got her wish—to be in Sam's shoes.

Sam pleaded he made only $17.99 a week and was broke. "Nonsense," said his former wife, "he's got the money in his shoes."

He said that "in a courtroom I take my hat off, always—my shoes, never!"

The court ordered him to take them off and an examination proved they contained no money. Asked why he refused at first to comply Sam answered:

"My feet are ticklish!"

Here's How To Work It

A X Y D L B A A X R

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Railroads, Oils Lead Stock Mart Decline

NEW YORK (AP)— The stock market stumbled and fell back Tuesday after a promising start.

Railroads, oils, and coppers were in the forefront of the fall, and almost all sections of the list joined in the decline.

The list widened out and a majority of issues closed on the downside. At the same time volume stepped up above many recent sessions.

The decline was a cautious affair without undue pressure appearing anywhere among major divisions.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped 50 cents at $106.00 with the industrial component down 40 cents, railroads down to 70 cents, and utilities down to 10 cents.

Goodrich shares gained 2½. Some gold mining shares were rather heavily traded.

Socony Vacuum wasthe day's most active issue unchanged at 33⅛ with 21,400 shares traded.

Lower stocks included Southern Railway off ½ at 68, Northern Pacific 1½ at 67¾, Derxy Oil ¾ at 21⅝, United Air Lines ⅝, and American Smelting, 1⅛ at 40'5.

Grains Rally; Oats, Lard Close Higher

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains, under the leadership of oats, rallied toward the close of Tuesday's Board of Trade session to recover much of early losses. While oats and lard were alone in marking up plus signs, a generally firm tone developed.

Early weakness developed when soybeans came under pressure at the opening. Corn also was weak. Both reflected heavy over the long holiday week-end receipts.

Exporters said there was little or no new business, and domestic flour trade was slow.

At the finish wheat was ¼ to ½ lower, corn was unchanged to ¾ lower, oats ¾ to 1¼ higher, rye was ½ to 1½ higher, soybeans were 1¾ to 1¾ lower and lard was 2 to 8 cents a hundred pounds higher.

During the early part of the session all deliveries of corn, with july soybeans and oats sold at new seasonal lows.

The weakness of soybeans was attributed in part to heavy buying in the country over the extended holiday. Tuesday's receipts of soybeans were placed at 296 cars, and fairly heavy arrivals are expected for Wednesday.

Lack of selling pressure, more than anything else, accounted for the firm tone in oats.

Council Members Vote 4 To 3 Against Fluoridation Of Lincoln's Water Supply

The City Council has voted four to three against the fluoridation of Lincoln's water supply.

The resolution in favor of fluoridation was introduced by Councilman Roy Sheaff. It received the support of Councilman Chauncey W. D. Kinsey and Councilwoman Mrs. Fern Hubbard Orme.

Voting against the resolution were Mayor Victor E. Anderson and Councilmen Pash Ash, Clark Jeary and Rees Wilkinson.

'Advised to Go Slow'

Jeary presented the main argument against fluoridation, stating that it had not been proved to his satisfaction that the chemical addition to the water would have no ill effects on anyone.

"Also," said Jeary, "I have talked to some doctors of high repute who advise us to go slow on this."

Anderson stated he also did not "feel safe on it. There are too many people who, whether right or wrong, honestly believe that fluoridation will hurt them."

It was pointed out, but to no avail, by both Sheaff and Orme that tests and experiments conducted on fluoridation have never yet shown the chemical to hurt anyone.

City Engineer D. L. Erickson had earlier advised the Council that the use of fluorine in the city water would involve two installations, one at Ashland and one in Lincoln, costing about $20,000.

Bell Denied Rate Boost

The State Railway Commission dismissed the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company's request for a rate increase.

The company last got an increase in February of this year.

That increase was designed to give the company an annual net income of $1,853,414, or $555,846 more than the net was in the preceding year.

In dismissing the new application, the commission said it came too soon after the last increase and that the company and the Commission should have the experience of at least one full year as to the effect of the February increase.

In seeking an increase last February the company left it to the Commission to decide what amount if any, should be granted. The new request was similar, the company stating it needed an increase due to increased all around costs and leaving it to the commission to decide what it should be, if any.

Protests against granting any new increase had been filed by the Omaha Grain Exchange and the Nebraska Grain Dealers Association. Both asked the commission to dismiss the company's application.

The commission pointed out that the company had received three rate increases in the past five years.

"Neither the applicant company nor the public nor this Commission has had a sufficient time in which to judge the impact" of the February, 1952 increase, the Commission commented.

Perfume That Clings

Q.—Dear Penny: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume, but first I must find out about a lasting one.—Mrs. A. W.

A. — A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a Liquid Skin Sachet. It smooths on the skin very easily, and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance. Try this Houbigant Chantilly Liquid Skin Sachet. Only 1.85 plus tax at Street Floor GOLD & CO.
